Everybody loves us Lego lads, but did you know we've got our own N64 game coming out? Well we have! It's called Lego Racers and you can read all about it in this very issue of N64 Pro! Fame at last eh! Wonder if I can get Noely's autograph...

The lads... and indeed lass, all have fond memories of being kids (although Noely's so old he can barely remember!), but what were our favourite toys?

Mark...

zoomed around an imaginary galaxy in his model Millennium Falcon. Until he stood on it!

Jim...

liked the obscurely sinister Cyborg, a fully poseable action figurine

Lewis...

whiled away the long Winter hours with Speak And Spell. (Hmmm! -Ed)

Nicky...

bounced up and down tirelessly on a space hopper. All day sometimes!

The 8 Commandments

N64 PRO: will always review games dead honestly, and we'll always ask at least one of you lot for your opinion too!

N64 PRO: will be bang up to date with the latest reviews, finest previews and most up to the minute news in every single issue

N64 PRO: will scour the galaxy to find each and every new cheat possible for every single N64 game, even if it kills us!

N64 PRO: team members will never talk down to our readers - even the really thick ones!

N64 PRO: will always be written by experts who live and breathe N64 gaming

N64 PRO: will always give the most coverage to the best games, and not waste our time - or yours - rambling on about the rubbish ones

N64 PRO: will always be the most reader-interactive N64 mag around - giving you the chance to have YOUR say in many different ways

N64 PRO: will always feature the latest cheats, and the guides to the games you want to see cracked!

Noely...

used to play with dolls! Says it was a Six million Dollar man, but we reckon it was Barbie!

Steve...

had hours of fun with his snazzy Evil Knieval wind-up stunt bike

James...

Used to walk backwards whilst shouting 'nanoo, nanoo' at his 'Mork in egg'

reckons we wouldn't be able to understand the toys he used to play with!

Scoop...

couldn't get enough of his rubber bone. It squeaked and everything apparently!

Paul...

Tomy Pinball Junior. It beeped and everything, and no-one could tell you off for tilting.

N64 PRO

N64 Pro is your essential guide to the wonderful world of Nintendo. Here's just some of the stuff that's coming up this issue!

'Lego' of n It's my tu

You'll be fighting over who gets next go when this hyper addictive little beast hits the shelves, but that's no excuse for a headline as cringe-worthy as that!

TOP TOYS never go out of fashion. True, your Lego bucket may currently be collecting dust in your attic somewhere, sandwiched between such happy memories as Buckaroo and Monopoly. But deep down you know you'd never ever want to get rid of it.

Time to go dig it out mate because Lego is officially cool again (not that it ever stopped - Er, Noely, definitely not Steve!). Who says so? Why we do of course. Not content with bringing out all manner of smart NEW Lego sets, (see Star Wars stuff) Lego have brought their little plastic building blocks kicking and screaming into the new millennium with the zippy looking Lego Racers.

The game is a 3D racer that has you driving a customised brick-built vehicle around one of 12 Legoland courses. Dark Forest Dash, Magma Moon Marathon, Tribal Island Trail and Desert Adventure are just some of the names of tracks set within realms of classic Legoland themes such as Pirate, Castle, Space and Adventurers. Oh, when I think of the hours I wasted, gazing at elaborate Lego sets in my mam's Littlewoods catalogue as a pup... I always wanted the pirate ship, but the bitch would never get it for me (Scoop is of course referring to a lady dog here! - Steve)

It's a Mario Kart style game, only instead of Mario, Yoshi and co. you get to race as, and against, such Lego heroes as Rocket Racer, Alpha Dragonis, Sam Grant, Rob 'n' Hood and

SCOOPY SNACK

Captain Redbeard.

The game features all the standard power-ups, such as speed bursts, and missile weapons as well as a rather smart grappling hook that uses the car in front to propel you ahead of them.

But best of all, because it's Lego, all the cars you drive are built and customised by you. And you can't just knock any old shed together either because each block you add or remove to your design will affect the vehicle's performance. And of course, give your car too much of a pounding and bits will start to fall off, right in the middle of the race, leaving you in a right old mess! Great fun though, especially in multi player mode!

Kids are gonna absolutely love Lego Racers when it hits the N64 later this summer, but even if you're a little bit crustier, don't be put off! We've seen it, and even at an early stage this looks like heaven for fans of Mario Kart and DKR! You'd be barking to turn your nose up at this!

New Power Generation

It's coming. And sooner than we all thought. Scoop pulls the rug out from under other industry newshounds and beats them to the punch by miles!

DECEMBER 1998. "We made the outline for Mario 2 more than one year ago, but I haven't touched it since then. Maybe we will make it for a completely different system." It was at that very moment that gaming guru Shigeru Miyamoto first lit the blue rumour touch paper and N2000 was born in the minds of a million gamers.

Just a few short months later and the rumours turn into fact (with a few more rumours bolted on for good measure!). And you can read it here first folks. Another scoop for the Scoopster!

We're hearing that the plan is to launch the new machine (developed by a company called ArtX, who broke away from swanky graphics masters Silicon Graphics a couple of years ago) is due to launch in October 2000! Only six months or so after PlayStation 2!

Infinity and beyond

Widely expected to be even more powerful than Sony's effort, and certainly packing more of a memory punch, the big question everyone's asking is CD or not CD? That is the question, and the answer is maybe, but definitely not cartridge!

Apparently the two options on the table are a beefed up 1.5 gigabyte 64DD style writable disk thing, but the option favoured by developers is the absolutely huge 5.7 gigabyte DVD drive that's got everyone frothing at the mouth like a French mongrel at the moment!

It may not have writability, but its sheer size makes it about as desirable to your everyday developer as a pollen plastered Britney Spears would be to a swarm of hormone riddled teenage bees.

The second coming

Expect it to be DVD and expect to hear a bible's worth of information about it over the coming months, but for now, munch on this feast of facts and what may well turn out to be fiction!

N2000 - The Facts

- Howard Lincoln, Nintendo's American chairman promised third party developers that they would have the machine specs in their sweaty little hands before the end of the year!
- The N2000 will be 128bit, in line with Sony and Sega's new efforts. It will be more advanced than any other games machine the world has ever seen
- If N64 sales slow down Nintendo are geared up for a launch in October

2000, but if games like Perfect Dark set new sales records then it may well be delayed until early 2001

- The machine is built around revolutionary new technology designed by ex-Silicon Graphics splinter group ArtX!
- Rumour is that it will be able to shift anything up to 80 million polygons around your telly every second, which sounds like a fair few polygons to us!
- Development kits are expected at key Dream Team developers any time now, but it is thought that a working prototype is currently in the hands of Miyamoto's staff!

- Nintendo feel that the decision to ditch carts will lure the likes of Squaresoft, Namco and Capcom back into the fold, no problem!
- There is little doubt that some kind of writability device, be it part of the machine or a 64DD style add-on will be a key feature
- It will not be backwards compatible

WIN!

Beastie Toys

ARE these monster toys or what? They're just a selection from the mammoth Godzilla range of toys available from those toymasters at Playmates. First up is the Babyzilla at around 10" high this is the baby of the bunch. It's a remote controlled baby Godzilla that features a walking action, and chomping jaws. It's available from Playmates at £14.99.

And if that little monster isn't big enough for ya' wait till you see the Inflatable Godzilla we've bagged for you. It's an absolute monster, and standing at 4ft high you'll need a dinosaur sized set of lungs just to blow the beast up.

They're top toys and we've plucked five of them from the generous paws of Playmates to give to five lucky readers. For details of all these monstrous toys contact Playmates on 0116 282 3500

To win your very own blow up beast, answer this question: If you could have your very own inflatable Playmate (apart from Godzilla obviously) what would it be and why? Answers to Blow up Doll compo at the usual address

There can only be a tiny number left, but for anyone who hasn't joined the fabulous Pro Crew yet, turn to page 82!

Turok Arena

They don't call me Scoop for nothing you know! I've just sniffed out Acclaim's plans for the next installment of Turok. We thought for a while that Mr Fireseed had disappeared, but he'll be back this Christmas in an all-new Turok game that isn't Turok 3!

Called Turok: Arena it will be running on the Turok 2 engine. But speculation is rife that Acclaim are trying to make an N64 Turok game that will be like the upcoming PC game Quake 3: Arena (the names are too similar to be a coincidence).

Instead of long one player levels the game is completely based around multi player deathmatches. If you're on your own, you fight against computer controlled characters in a competition. The real excitement is caused by the incredibly realistic artificial intelligence of the computer controlled opponents (who should act just as cleverly or stupidly for that matter as real people). I'll keep digging until I find some more tasty information on this one.

Will you ever survive the wait?

HOT news has just been sniffed out from Capcom. They've finally decided to pull their finger out and get working on an N64 version of the world's favourite zombie slaying blood-fest - Resident Evil 64.

By the end of the year you'll see blood flowing, limbs flying and zombies feasting on the rotting corpses of dead civilians all rendered with the power of the N64. Fun for all the family and a top laugh (unless you're a bit squeamish, in which case you might not see the funny side).

For those of you who don't know, Resident Evil is a great adventure game which sees you fending off armies of the undead. The graphics are fantastic and the gameplay is can be genuinely scary (unlike most horror films).

You've got a huge supply of weaponry, but rarely enough bullets which keeps you on your toes (often literally - as you flee from the brain-munchers).

The N64 version will be based upon the best selling Resident Evil 2 game originally released on the good ol' fashioned PlayStation.

If you ever played the disc spinnin' version then imagine this: Resident Evil, in all its bloodthirsty glory, minus the annoying loading sign that appeared every time you opened a door. Absolute perfection!

Lodes of platforming fun

WAY back when I just a pup and just knee high to a Labrador, Lode Runner was released on the crusty Commodore 64 (so called because it had a teenie-weenie 64k of memory inside it).

Well, it's back on a new 64bit system (one with a bit more power) and as you expect it's looking a little bit better these days. A hot looking 3D platformer where you run around collecting keys, bashing holes in the floor and making your way to the exit. It promises a huge amount of brain-taxing levels and enough platform action to satisfy even the most hardened gamer.

Keep your eyes open for a full review of Lode Runner next month, where the lads will give this a through going over to see if this eighties' star has stood the test of time or should have been left in an old-games home.

Die foul Orama!

OR summat like that anyway! Cos we've got five ludicrously cool Turok 2 'Dioramas' to give away! If you don't know what one of those is then check the photo and start clearing a place on your best shelf cos you're guaranteed to be desperate for one when you do!

Each one is £14.99 worth of bloodthirsty dinosaur slaying mayhem! All you have to do to win one is come up with the best anagram of 'Cool Turok Diorama' that you can think of, and send it in to Pointless Question Competition, N64 Pro, Media House, Adlington Park, Macclesfield, SK10 4NP before the end of April! Sorted.

Buggin' out

Flik and pals ant-elope from Disney to infest your N64

YOU humans have a saying that "It's a Dog's Life" (why anyone would knock a life of eating, sleeping, playing N64 games, and occasionally licking my... but enough of this.) Well, if you think us pooches have it tough, spare a thought for those lowly insects.

In "A Bug's Life" your ant colony is under threat from a bunch of antagonistic, anti social grasshoppers. And the only antidote is YOU, an intrepid ant, named Flik.

The game, based on the Disney film of the same name, has already featured on PSX. Expect the N64 version to 'up the ante' somewhat with exclusive new stages that didn't feature on the plankstation.

Though billed as a klds' adventure, don't expect this to be a "walk in the park" err... more of a fast paced scurry through a 3D flora and fauna filled funpark, teeming with all manner of insane insects and creepy crawlies.

As Flik you must fight your way through 15 levels of enemies that are despatched by hurling fruit at them, or by stomping them with your oversized insectoid butt. Later on you must enlist the help of some friendly fleas from the circus. (Scoop - Ooh I'm itching at the thought of it).

As you can see from these screenshots the game is already looking pretty superb. It'll sound cool with voice samples and effects from the film, as well as some rather smart Antmusic, courtesy of Adam And The Ants (No, just kidding).

Nevertheless, expect the musical anthems (groan!) to be good enough to keep your feet tapping (all eight of them!).

The next time you step on an innocent ant, or flush a little furry spider down the plughole, just remember that all God's creatures have homes, families and feelings too. (Scoop - Apart from fleas that is. Squish 'em. Squish 'em all!)

Pokemon GB carts sold 1.3 million in US (over Xmas period alone)

Huge Trouser Snake

AN AIR stewardess slapped me last week. I was on a flight to Montreal and asked her if she'd like to see my Pocket Monster, when Slap! I even offered to let her play with it, but that only made things worse.

Admittedly I was pleased to see her, but if only she hadn't stormed off in a huff, muttering about what a dirty dog I was she'd have realised that I was talking about Pocket Monsters on my Gameboy.

Well she'd better get used to it because the Pokemon craze is sweeping the globe and people are going literally potty about all things Pokemon. Right now, anything and everything to do with those 'monstrous trouser dwellers' is selling faster than a greyhound with its goolies on fire.

If US Pocketmaniacs are anything to go by, expect to see some bulges in 'many a pocket' over this side of the Atlantic too.

With the TV series a runaway smash, and Pokemon comics now in their second and third print runs, US kids are pocketing anything even remotely related. Pokemon Pens, Trading Cards, Pokemon Fine China sets, and even Pokemon toilet paper are currently monstrous.

KFC have a special Pokemon promotion running in stores, to get beanbags, stickers, hats and God knows what. And if you've loads of cash, how about buying a 1999 Ford Explorer, Pokemon edition. And craziest of all, Nippon Airways has announced a Pokemon Jet. The 747-400 aircraft will feature flight attendants wearing Pokemon aprons, and sell Pokemon merchandise in-flight. (If you ask me, you humans are barking mad, the lot of you! - Scoop)

Look, if I'd wanted a monster in my pocket I'd have fashioned myself a miniature Noely wouldn't I?

Resident Evil 64

Capcom are playing their cards close to their chest, but they're definitely working on an N64 version of Resident Evil 2. Plenty of zombie killin' with glorious graphics and no loading times whatsoever. Eat your heart out... before a zombie eats it for you.

LEAGUES

Welcome back to your at a glance form guide to the champs and chumps on the N64 playing field. Find out who is letting the side down and who is running away with the title

What's it all about?

CAN'T figure it out? It's dead easy, and it works like this. Every game we review is looked at by every member of the N64 Pro panel of experts and is awarded points on a scale ranging from 3 points for a top notch effort, right down to -2 points for an enormous steaming turd of a game. These points are then totalled up for each publisher and the League Tables are born. Just like the football leagues work really, but with games instead of teams...

N64PRO: READER DREAM TEAM by Oliver Young

Applications to manage the N64 Pro Dream Team are flooding in. We even had a call from Kevin Keegan recently who suggested he would be able to squeeze us in during his lunch break. As we explained to 'Canny Kev' though, we needed someone who was fully committed to the cause and so handed the overcoat and cigar to Ollie Young. Such are his management skills that he's even managed to find a use for the 64DD. Think your team would play Ollie's off the park? Send it to us along with a recent photo of yourself and next month you could win the coveted Manager of the month award, not to mention a FREE Pro Crew Membership.

1 64DD

With this, no console could get past the N64 (not that they can already).

2 GoldenEye

Come too close and you'll be dancing.

3 Banjo Kazooie

You'll not get past him without being pecked, or else gripped in an inescapable bear hug.

4 Duke Nukem

Any attempts to get past this guy usually end in loss of blood.

5 South Park 64

This dirty player will 'kick your ass' right out of the stadium. Sweet!

6 Body Harvest

Squishes defenders like bugs. More intelligent player than it looks.

7 Legend of Zelda

You guys predicted it would be a player to watch and it's turned out to be the best ever.

8 1080° Snowboarding

Cool as ice midfielder. Pacey and stylish.

9 F-Zero X

Faster than Overmars, Giggs and Owen put together. Eat dust PlayStation.

10 Turok 2

No longer the star player since the arrival of Zelda, but still puts the fear of God into defenders.

11 ISS '98

Beware all goalkeepers. You are advised to step aside when this guy shoots.

Substitutes

12 Perfect Dark

Pushing for a starting place in the team. A vital substitute who can replace GoldenEye or Duke Nukem.

13 ISS 64

If the main striker should go down, (which is unlikely) then he's the next best thing.

14 Castlevania 64

A promising young star. Literally kills anything in the way. Drollworthy looks to terrify PlayStation owners.

15 Silicon Valley

A strange player, without the silky skills of other players, but clever enough to drive opponents MAAAD!!!

16 Mario 64

May not be as new or exciting as the likes of Zelda, but no team would be complete without this likeable veteran (Aahh!).

Overall Picture

Our resident Ainsley Harriot (aka Noely) takes every game we've ever reviewed, lumps them all together in a big pot, spices them up with a sprinkle of culinary criticism, sticks it in the oven (gas mark 5) for several hours and emerges with a great big pan of N64 broth. He then promptly serves up 133 Bowls of steaming Game Soup.

A taste test reveals:

Hall of Fame

No surprise to see Nintendo reaffirming the fact that no-one beats them at their own game. No sooner did the Mario Party bash get under way, than the bashing became quite literal in a boozy ruckus courtesy of Smash Bros. The Nintendo party is still in full swing and barring complaints from neighbours and the inevitable appearance of the police (particularly given some of the unsavoury acts recorded in Steve's review - see Issue 19, p.24) expect it to continue well into the year.

Legend Of Zelda: Ocarina Of Time

Nintendo
Yet again the phenomenally playable Legend Of Zelda: Ocarina Of Time puts in another match-winning performance for Nintendo. With man of the match performances like this, a call up to the national team can't be very far off. And if there's anyone out there who hasn't played Link's latest adventures in the wonderful world of Hyrule, what on earth are you playing at? Are you mad?

The only game to beat ISS '98

Note: Where two or more publishers' points totals are the same, the number of games released is used to separate them, with the more prolific producer being given the advantage. In cases where records are identical, personal preference among the members of the team comes into effect.

the N64

The Reviewers...

Steve Vigilante 8's my top pick this month. Reminds me of the happy days of my childhood! Stiff competition though. Monaco rules, those pesky snowboarding kids are just as good as a laugh as they ever were. And I've not even mentioned Beetle AR yet!

Noely A game about funky flyguys, with big attitudes and even bigger hairdo's with a tendency towards violence and trashing their cars. Can't imagine why I was chosen to review this super cool smash 'em-up, but I'm glad I was. Groovy!

Mark Bug racing was definitely top of my list this month with nothing beating Beetle AR! Next in line was the four-player smash 'n' trash treat - Vigilante 8. WCW Nitro tried to wipe the smile off my face, but Monaco GP put it straight back on again. Top stuff!

Lewis Sticking a rocket up Noely's arse in Vigilante 8 sure beats toying with his spandexed bottom in WCW Nitro. While punting Mark into the jaws of the T-Rex in my bugged-out Beetle had me and him in stitches. It's my fave game this month and a definite recommend

Paul Beetle Adventure Racing got me going this month. Not only is it a top game, but it takes me back those innocent days spent capturing insects and pitting them against each other after shaking them half to death in a coffee jar. Beetles always came a poor second to the wasps...

James A top collection of software awaits you inside. Vigilante 8 is a fine firepower option to get your juices flowing, while Monaco GP and Beetle Adventure Racing increase the quality racing coming your way. Just my luck to get the pants wrestling game to review then eh?

The Scores...

THE Sore Thumb Award is given only to games that you'd happily kill your granny for. GoldenEye 007, Mario 64, 1080 Snowboarding and of course Zelda are all 'Sore Thumbers'

ANY game scoring 90 or over is a must buy – a worthy addition to your N64 collection regardless of what type of games you like. Get one o' these and you'll be buzzin' for months!

-80

GAMES getting an 80+ score are well worth considering, but aren't the leaders of the pack. FIFA 98 is a good example of this – a good footballer in its own right, but not world class

79

THE idea's there, but it just hasn't come across when the game's got into its box and onto the shelf, which is basically where it should be left. Only worth a look if it's been reduced in price!

The Low Down...

Why...

Tells you exactly what we think of each game

Breakdown

Graphics How it looks and have the awesome capabilities have been pushed to the max?

Sound Can you stand to listen to it for more than five minutes or is it something your Grandad would tap his arthritic toes to?

Gameplay Is it good fun or what? Will you be playing it when you should be at school or tossing it aside like a pair of Tesco trainers?

Lastability How long will it last? Will it be a GoldenEye, or a Clayfighter where you'll finish it in five minutes?

Why not try?

Is there anything like it? If so, what is it?

“...a mans success with the ladies was equivalent to the width of his flares...and the size of his hot rod”

We all know that size is important, and never was this maxim more true than in the seventies, when a man's success with the ladies was equivalent to the bushiness of his afro, the width of his flares, the height of his platforms and above all, the size of his hot rod. Well if big is truly beautiful then Vigilante 8 is positively gorgeous since it has some of the biggest hairdos (pot calling the kettle - Lewis), the widest flares and the greatest collection of larger than life characters you're ever likely to see in a video game. If Quentin Tarantino was to remake

Vigilante 8 has superb explosions going on left, right and centre

“Driveby shootings are commonplace and even the milk floats have gun turrets” the film Mad Max, chances are the results would be something like Vigilante 8.

Think Mad Max with afros and Samuel L Jackson in place of Mel Gibson and you'll be nearly there. A game of car related carnage, Vigilante 8 is a spin off from the smash hit PC game Interstate 76. Set in the same lawless, barren setting, with yesterday's (70's) fashions and today's weapons.

It's the kind of place where badass brothers, with bad hairdo's and even badder attitudes, tear around the neighbourhood firing guns and wrecking cars. Where driveby shootings and roadkill murders are so commonplace that even the milk floats have gun turrets. Think Salford, only worse. One of the coolest things about Interstate 76 was its super smooth storyline and ever so fly FMV cut scenes, so it was a surprise, and initially at least, a disappointment to hear that this wouldn't be a straight conversion, and worse still the ace storyline had been wrenched out with all the subtlety of a Salford scally nicking a car stereo.

Don't sweat though Bro. It may be small on plot, but just about everything else about Vigilante 8 is big and brash. In fact, all credit to Activision that they've had the car back into the garage and given it a total overhaul for the console market.

The fact that Vigilante 8 stands on its own two feet with a plot line so flimsy that you could fart and blow it over is testament to what a fine engine the game has throbbing beneath the bonnet. Loads of arcadey action arenas and more manic multi player levels have been added to create more of a sequel of sorts. A funky remix albeit in the same groove as its super-fly PC father.

Right about now!

The game lets you groove with the good guys as one of four 'Vigilantes' or else you can opt to dance on the dark side as one of the 'Coyote' terrorists. Each driver has their own vehicle with its own unique handling, speed, armour level, tracking avoidance and special weapons.

Oh man,
the chick's split and I didn't even

my hot rod

Our very own Mark Hattersley makes an appearance in the game 'the spanner' quick if a little fragile and prone to flip onto its roof. Beezwax's Stag pick-up is armoured like a tank and turns like one, while John Torque's Jefferson strikes a happy medium.

Once you've made your choice it's time to jump aboard your roadster, slam on some seriously funky tunes and strut your funky stuff in one of the eight courses (or arenas).

These 3D arenas are huge and set in such barren wastelands as Arizona and Utah, as well as a Las Vegas inspired Casino City. And they're all brilliantly designed with lots of undulating terrain and scenery such as buildings and the like to hide behind, or initially at least to crash into. To begin with, all attempts to control your car prove as embarrassing as your dad at a disco.

The car physics are realistic (ish) and bounce around all over the place as you'd expect them to when driven at high speed on such terrain. Okay, I'm not talking true driving sim realism here, I mean pseudo realistic and yet totally over the top Dukes of Hazard. A Team, Smokey and the Bandit type physics. Cars wheel spin, hurtle off ramps, sail over jumps, flip over onto their roofs and crumple as they sustain damage and even stall their engines at times.

Funk-soul brother

Most of the scenery is interactive. So as you're tear-arsing around after, or away from, your opponents, colliding with other cars, walls, and lamp posts, popping off rockets and homing missiles, and spraying machine gun fire left right and centre

Planes, Trains and Automobiles all feature large as life in Vigilante 8

Vigilante 8

Hey Man!
Like don't drive
the vehicles over my grass man. Peace and Love dudes.

Player 2 decides to stop a bus - by ramming it then peppering it with rockets

the surrounding scenery literally crashes to the floor around you. Buildings burn, bridges buckle, lampposts bend and then topple.

Each of the levels has a mission objective of sorts, which usually requires you to protect a vital building or installation.
But very often the missions are simply a case of shooting all the enemies as quickly as possible. And when it comes to firepower Vigilante 8 packs more punch than a Jackie Chan film with twice as many dynamic explosions. Each car not only has its own, front mounted, fixed machine gun, but in addition up to three different types of armoury can be attached to each car.

Weapons include missiles, rockets,
cannons, mines and more and these can be found littered throughout the level. Each car also has its own special attack, from John Torque's Bass Quake (a huge sound system that literally rocks the ground from beneath enemies), to Beezwax's Gamma Swarm that unleashes a swarm of mutant killer bees.

Check it out now!

Faced with so many weapons, power-ups and different vehicles, your first forays into the arena prove somewhat 'Gung Ho' as you blunder around like a bull in china shop with your enemies circling and peppering you with firepower.

As you get to grips with it though the game comes into its own. You'll learn which weapons are the best and which power-ups to grab first. It's then that you realise just what a funky game you've found yourself wrapped up in.

I've already mentioned the funky tunes, but throughout the proceedings your ears are bombarded by the whistling of mortars, the fizzing of homing missiles and the 4 players = 4 times the fun. As good as the single player game is in Vigilante 8. The multiplayer (up to four players) is where the real fun is at. As well as two player versus and co-operative games. There are also 4 player deathmatch modes of Brawl, Team and Smear. Brawl is every man for themselves, Team is two on two and Smear lets three of you gang up onto one unfortunate victim.

thump, thump, thump of the cannons in time with the kickin' bass lines of the music. I've not even mentioned yet the truckloads of options Vigilante 8 gives you to monkey around with.

There's the Quest mode (which involves a plot of sorts and sees you tackling levels in a certain order) with bosses to fight at the end of each quest. Then there's Brawl, Smear and a smart Survival mode (kind of like a Royal Rumble except with cars instead of wrestlers), which are exclusive to this version.

Size matters and Vigilante 8 is large in every way. It was a big hit on PSX and it'd be a crime of staggering proportions if the N64 version isn't bigger than a Theopolis P Wildebeast codpiece. It's easily one of my favourite driving games on the N64 and blows away the likes of SF Rush with a rocket up the rear.

Play Vigilante 8 on your own and it's insanely addictive, but played against your mates in fiendish deathmatches the ensuing car related carnage can spark off enough incidents of Road Rage to send even the little Welsh pop strumpet from Catatonia round the bend ●

Monte Carlo! The only city where Rush Hour means 150 mph!

By Mark
markh@dig.co.uk

Once a year a small town throws up a few road blocks, sets up some stands and invites the world to watch F1 cars race through their city centre. They're bloody nutters!

IF IT WASN'T on the telly you'd think the Monaco GP was just too insane to be real. A road race with real F1 cars (the type that do 0 to 60 in less than two seconds) tonning it through the narrow streets of a small city. Imagine if it took place in your town (in our case Manchester): Schumacher and all the others would ton it past Piccadilly Gardens, bomb around Chinatown and scream past the Arndale Centre. It's truly and utterly bonkers!

There's a lot of words you can use

“Flimsy rocket cars driven by the recently escaped inhabitants of the local loony bin”

I can barely see above the steering wheel let alone win the race to describe the Monaco GP: fast, fierce and foolish for example. The word 'safe' however, wouldn't appear on your list. It's like a destruction derby between flimsy rocket cars driven by the recently escaped inhabitants of the local loony bin. Out of all the brave racers that start, half of them don't make it to the end (a fair number won't even make it round the first corner!).

Made up Motors

The lack of an official license means that all the real racers have been replaced with made up motor companies. Let's play the guessing game...

Easy this one. Red can only mean one company...Ferrari

Close enough to the bright yellows of the Jordan team

Four times world F1 champ Alan Prost has his own team - Prost F1

The white of this car distinguishes it as Stewart Racing

The control stick steers your motor

Use the C buttons to change the views and look behind you

Bash and Smash

Gridlock and traffic brings my plans to a swift stop

My three wheeler is unsurprisingly duff at steering...

Now Monaco GP doesn't just have that one track, all 16 F1 World Grand Prix circuits are included, but if you're like me then the first one you head for is always Monaco. What other racetrack has casinos on one side and millionaire playboys with their model girlfriends on the other? It's like racing through a Bond film!

Racing roulette

Monaco GP does a good job of recreating all the excitement of a real F1 race too. The tracks are packed with plenty of detail and move faster than a fuel-injected ferret. Even with half the pack on screen at once there's very little slowdown and the whole thing is smoother than an eel in an oil slick.

Up to 22 cars compete in each race, but unfortunately the cars and drivers are all daft names. But the game does include a name editor, so if you're missing Michael Schumacher and all his mates, you'll quickly recognise who the racers are supposed to be and can change their names to be trainspottingly accurate,

“What other racetrack has casinos on one side and millionaire playboys with their model girlfriends on the other? It's like racing through a Bond film” or even add your own.

The graphics are a mixed bag of tasty nuts versus sour raisins. On the upside the game is packed with detail and F1 fanatics can spot each track immediately. The courses are a well-rounded bunch as well with more curves than a Playboy photo shoot. Unfortunately, the curse of blurry graphics makes an unwelcome reappearance. Whilst Racing Simulator isn't as fuzzy as some games it's still got that wobbly edge that makes you feel like you should get your eyes tested.

This ain't no game

When you first start the game you're presented with a choice between playing in 'arcade' or 'simulation' mode. F1 novices would be wise to choose arcade as this option radically alters the way your car responds. Pick 'arcade' and you'll fly around the corners with ease and with a little practice you'll be hammering your way into pole position in no time.

Eating tarmac

Once a few hundred miles of racetrack have flown past your helmet, you'll be wanting to step up the game to 'simulation' mode. Now just try your old tactic of hammering away from the start and bashing through the pack as they slow down for the first corner and you'll smash your car faster than a crash test dummy driving with no hands. And if you've got the damage setting set to 'realistic' you'll quickly find yourself trying to drive a battered wreck that has shopping trolley handling (and that's if you're lucky enough to still have wheels!)

“This is a real challenge that’ll yo-yo your butt between the seats of the slowest slouches to the fastest firecrackers”

As well as the usual ‘single race’ and ‘tournament’ modes, Monaco GP has included a ‘career mode.’ Pick this option and you’ll find yourself playing as a newcomer to F1 racing, with an offer from one of the lowest teams. You’ll now have to work your way up the ranks by winning races. This is a real challenge that’ll yo-yo your butt between the seats of the slowest slouches where you suck tailpipe, to the fastest firecrackers when you take pole position.

The real test though is between Monaco GP and the current race leader, Nintendo’s F1 World Grand Prix and a quick flick between both games revealed some startling differences between the two.

Close race

Surprisingly, Monaco GP has a couple of advantages over the big N’s racing powerhouse. It’s much faster for one thing, and there’s no experience to match tearing through that tunnel in Monaco. There’s also a great balance between a realistic feel where you’ve got to brake for corners and simplistic control where you feel truly in command of your car.

This will come as a welcome relief to anybody still spinning out at every

I wanted a different colour but our banana growing sponsors insisted corner on the incredibly realistic (but equally frustrating) World Grand Prix.

But if you’re a true Formula One fanatic like me, you’ll be wanting the game that puts you behind the wheel of a real racing car. And that’s World Grand Prix with its warts and all (even when you scream for the thousandth time after spinning off on the final lap).

Even though Monaco GP is faster and often more fun than World Grand Prix, the lack of an official license coupled with blurry graphics leave it trailing in second place.

Tip-Xtra

F1 Racing is all about precision so make sure you don’t go barging in at the first corner.

IT'S GOT enough speed to knock out your teeth and the silky smooth detail on the tracks make you feel like your sitting in a real F1 car. Unfortunately, the blurry graphics make you think that the pit crew has smeared grease all over your helmet. Boarders beware of avalanches. Oh, and tornadoes, rocks, pans, ghosts, thieving mice and above all kids. Yeah, if you thought snowboarding was dangerous wait until you see how these 'kids' behave on the slopes

If you took Diddy Kong Racing, Mario Kart and 1080 Snowboarding and rolled them up into one huge snowy ball, you'd most probably ruin three perfectly decent N64 cartridges. But that's essentially what Atlus did to come up with Snowboard Kids, and bowled us over with one of the surprise hits on N64 last year.

Well, knock me down with a soggy snowball if they haven't gone and done exactly the same thing again with Snowboard Kids 2.

In case you missed out on the snowy splendour of the first game let me brief you. It's a snowboarding multiplayer race game in a Mario Kart style, ie race one of several kids round a series of courses, as you go collecting powerups which you use to boost your own boarders progress and hamper your opponents.

Smart bottom

Unlike most snowboard racers, this game has a rather smart ski lift at the bottom of each course that whisks you back to the top of the slopes, so that the manic mayhem can begin all over again. The great thing about the ski lift system is that as well as allowing the game to have laps, it also makes for some rather entertaining punch ups as players fight to be first through the turnstile.

The courses are all themed and quite varied and surprisingly enough some of them feature very little snow, if any at all. One course for example sees you boarding down a lush green hillside, with your board skimming effortlessly across the rich, dewy grass. There's another where the ▶ ▶ track is partly submerged underwater and has you boarding past marine fishes, with the ski lift replaced by a turtle that takes you to the top of the course on it's back. Another sees you in a bizarre, indoor track with shades of Micro Machines as you skim over various items of household items with a blatant disregard for furniture bordering on vandellism. Honestly, would you do that in your own home?

Jostling japes

In Mario Kart inspired fashion Snowboard Kids 2 is a powerup fest, with punch ups, mass brawls and lots of jostling all part of the fun in the game especially in multiplayer mode.

Picture the scene. One moment you're the picture of coolness, bombing down a steep, snowy incline on your ever so 'rad' customised board. The sun reflecting off your Ray Bans, the wind whistling through your Tommy Hilfiger Jacket, your mind already wandering to thoughts of the lovely young snowboarding strumpets waiting to celebrate your victory by smothering you with champagne and kisses.

When all of a sudden...Whallop! You're hit on the bonce by a huge saucepan and squished flat. And while you're busy peeling yourself off the floor, another 'kid' has sped by you into the lead.

Goddam gundam

And that's just for starters. The very next moment you'll be encased in ice, or shoved over by a huge hand. Never mind avalanches, in Snowboard Kids 2 boarders must battle against the elements, and death defying jumps but also tackle tornadoes, snowmen, parachute attacks, and even a bizarre mouse that steals your coins. Hardly the kind of thing you'd expect to encounter on your average snowy circuit, but then Snowboard Kids is not your average snowboarding game.

Visually the game looks, well pretty much like the first actually. Cute Japanese 'gundam' characters with huge heads and tiny bodies that are perfectly in keeping with the cartoony 'slapstick' gameplay style. ▶

Good to see that the Ski lift and punch-ups have survived the first game

The sneaky Jam toys with leaving a rock on this treacherous jump. Heh heh!

Not only must you post a minimum no. of newspapers, you're against the clock as well

Slash finishes with just 18 papers posted. Someone's going without their papers today

Tip-Xtra

Use powerups wisely. Drop rocks in narrow places, snowman attacks on corners, and parachute attacks when enemies are approaching jumps to cause maximum inconvenience to your opponents

Kids Stuff

Spooky spectres, snowman attacks and flying pans - just some of those kiddie powerups

SNOWMEN

It's great fun turning enemies into useless snowmen

GHOST

This spooky spectre will slow up the opposition

FAN

Gives you a motorised, fan powered snowboard boost

STEALTH

Turns you invisible thus avoiding enemy attacks

ICICLE

Encases your enemies in a rock hard icicle

ROCKET

PAN

Brings a pan crashing down on the heads of opponents

WINGS

Lets you float over large chasms and watery sections

Snowboard Kids 2

The graphics are as clear and crisp as a bag full of glacier mints and more colourful than the Jamaican Footy team on Carnival day. But in truth they're looking a little dated when compared to the cool as ice courses of Diddy Kong Racing, or the almost frostbite inducing realism of 1080's snowy slopes.

Shoot my box

In between races you're transported to an options menu in the guise of a street. It's a nice touch, and it's particularly noticeable that there have been changes in this department. It's from this street that you access the Board Shop where you can purchase boards with your prize money, a Paint Shop to customise your board (and even your players outfit), and a School to practise your skills. There are also buildings representing the Speed, Shoot and Trick courses which have been maintained and improved somewhat. One of the Shoot courses for example is an ingenious paperboy 'reworking' whereby you must fire as many newspapers as possible into US style mailboxes on your way down the course.

Other introductions include several new characters (a couple of which appear to be hidden beneath snowmen), to go with Jam Kuehnemund, Linda Parsey, Tommy Parsey and Slash Kamei and Nancy Neil from the first game.

But apart from that Snowboard Kids 2 is more of the same, not a crime given that the first was quite an entertaining little ride. It takes the multiplayer gameplay of Mario Kart and Diddy Kong and adds some 1080 style tricks, stunts, and a touch of snow. And for a while it's quirkiness and comedy value warms you to the games charms. But ultimately this is a disappointment. It's a shame that Atlus haven't improved the graphics or sound sufficiently to justify the sequel. When it comes to thinking of reasons why to buy this game I keep coming up with reasons not to. A jumped up sequel isn't gonna cut any ice with those who bought and enjoyed the first game and are expecting Snowboard Kids 2 to be a bigger, badder boarder.

"The graphics are... more colourful than the Jamaican footy team on Carnival day"

I piled on two stone in three months the 'Lardfast' way. Who's for burger and chips?

Cuts no ice

If you missed Snowboard Kids and are after a seriously silly knockabout racer, in the Mario Kart mould, then this might be worth a look, but then again you might be better trying to pick one up second hand. Snowboarding purists after something in the way of a simulation should punt for 1080's more realistic game with its solid solo challenge. And those of you who hated the first game of course would be well advised to avoid this like you would a patch of yellow snow in an ice eating contest. There was a time when I thought that the Snowboard Kids were as cool as ice, but a year has passed and the summer sun has definitely thawed my opinions.

The key to winning is bagging and wisely employing the various powerups

Why...

As entertaining as the first game was, It was always a bit slow and couldn't quite keep up with the pace, nor the visual splendour of DKR or Mario Kart. We played It for quite a while and then along came 1080 and blew It away. And while this jumped up update is undoubtedly a laugh, I'm not sure It's quite as 'rad' a departure or enough of an improvement to warrant splashing your cash on.

Noely

Breakdown...

GRAPHICS Big, bright and beautifully colourful, but hardly 'state of the art' 7/10

SOUND Some of the most ear torturingly twee tunes you could possibly imagine. Yeuch! 4/10

GAMEPLAY Undoubtedly a blast for four players but it's no Diddy Kong Racing & it's slow 8/10

LASTABILITY Lots of options, modes, and bosses add some longevity, but not much 7/10

Why not try...

1080 Snowboarding

Easily the best snowboard game on any console game. Lacking in multiplayer magic but otherwise very cool

Other Views...

LEWIS Were it called 'Snowboard Chaps 2' I think I'd have preferred it. 'Kids' are young goats you see

MARK No improvement over the original. It's far too slow and the game's nothing special. Get Mario Kart or 1080 instead

STEVE Worth a higher score if you've not got the original, but a total rip-off if you have! Good stuff though

READER REVIEW Never played the first Snowboard Kids so I quite liked this, but It's a bit slow.

There'll be no exploding of this nitro, someone forgot to light the fuse!

WCW NITRO

By James
jamesc@dig.co.uk

It's another animated set of snarlers from wrestling's anabolic apron patrons, but don't let a bunch of household names tempt you into climbing through the ropes for more joint breaking japes

Tip-Xtra

Make good use of your showboating manoeuvres to whip up the crowd and increase your fighting spirit and be aware of your opponent's buddies at all times as they need no invitation to steam into the ring to knacker your kisser

Oooh Yeah!

Right. I'm not going to get into the old 'tight wearing American blokes in professional pantomime' routine of slugging off what is basically a bucket load of choreographed clap-trap. Because, strange though it is, it seems there are a fair few followers of this 'sport' over here in the Bulldog's base camp.

You're probably sick to your knee high leather stomping boots of reading all the glam queen insinuations. So we'll just agree to disagree on the ins and outs of Hogan's day job and delve straight into the cut and thrust of the review. Or grapple and grunt if you prefer?

Nitro is the follow up to THQ's WCW vs NWO, but the premise shown in that bout of brutishness has been broken, and the WCW brand will surely suffer a triple hammer blow if WCW Nitro represents the console future for fans of wrestling.

What initially appears to be a healthy portion of rumble pie turns out to be a limp pastry taster of a seemingly non-existent main course. 16 popular princes of pain and game options spanning exhibition, tag team, royal rumble, championship and two to four player multi-maiming is enough to get any fan of violent friction into a pant-filling frenzy, but the promised delivery dish misses the house completely.

sting thing (like a hot vindaloo), then the bad elements of Nitro may seem mere blots on a beautiful landscape. But let me tell you, the only beautiful thing about this hillbilly hip tossing horticultural is the power switch having an 'off' setting. Sure, you'll be impressed with the accuracy of the costumes, the spine splittingly fine animation of signature moves and taunts of all stars such as The Hitman, Hogan, the Steiner brothers, Sting and all of their bruising buddies. But when the gameplay is as minuscule as a steroided wrestler's groin wrist exerciser the importance, and reamness, of such eye candy soon diminishes.

Mario Party

I've got my party hat on, I've got my funny whistle, now all I need's a party to go to! Oi! Mazza! Let us in mate, I won't cause any bother, honest!

N64PRO

CHEATZONE Mario Party

Mario Party reunites all your favourite characters from previous Mario games. You can choose to play as one of six characters: Mario himself, Luigi, Princess Peach, Donkey Kong, Wario and Yoshi. There is no real difference playing as the different characters, play with the one you feel most comfortable with, or the one whose voice irritates you the least (Peach's sugary voice may drive you mental after a while).

Other characters pop up at various points, Koopa Troopa is the equivalent of Monopoly's 'Go' space, he gives you coins every time you pass, and as usual Bowser is hanging around trying to cause problems. Cute little Toad has a vital role in Mario Party, he dishes out the stars to deserving characters with twenty coins or more.

Object of the game...

THE object of the game is to become the ultimate Superstar, which in Toad's words is someone who helps others when they're in trouble. This doesn't explain why the likes of the Gallagher brothers, hardly known for their caring, sharing natures, are considered superstars, but it's only a computer game after all. So each of the six board games has a mission behind it, which will only be fulfilled once the game is completed. There are different things to look out for on each board:

DK's Jungle Adventure

HERE you get to explore Donkey Kong's Jungle home. It's a board without too many tricks and traps, so good to begin with. The only things that might hinder you are the locked doors and Whomps (you know, those weird stones with faces on) which will block your path. You have to pay coins to pass but have a look at the map before deciding whether to part with your hard earned cash. It's easy to assume that they must be guarding a path to somewhere really good, but that's not always the case.

Peach's

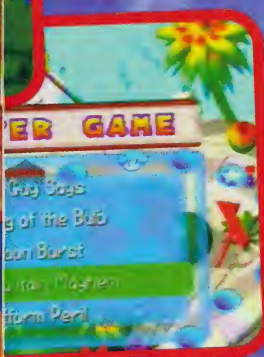

Each board is massively different!

ON this board set on top of a cake, you will be given the opportunity to buy decorations for it. It's probably not worth doing until the you are well into the game and the other players actually have stars to nick. Beware though because the others are bound to retaliate by also buying plants and then you end up with stars flying back and forth every time anyone has a turn.

“The idea of the game is to become the ultimate superstar by helping people when they're in trouble”

Yoshi's Tropical Island

THE bridges linking the two islands on this board are guarded by Blue Thwomps. To pass you must pay an ever increasing number of coins, fine at the beginning, but when it gets past ten it's hardly worth paying, particularly if you are on the right island to get to Toad. Even towards the end when Koopa Troopa starts giving out twenty coins, if you're paying a lot to reach him it's pointless, and you will waste turns when you could be getting stars from Toad instead.

Luigi's Engine

THERE are loads of doors here, and the problem is that after each round the doors move, blocking different paths off. Like Wario's board, don't be too set in your ways, if you forget that the doors will move and you don't have an alternative plan, you're going to waste turns getting yourself back on track. Also learn where the warp pipes lead so you can use them as short cuts. The better you know this board, the easier it's going to be to win - so use that map constantly.

Wario's Battle Canyon

THIS is a tough board, when you are loaded into a cannon you don't always know which island you're going to land on. This is one board where you shouldn't bother planning too much as you'll never end up where you want if you do. However you are able to choose roughly whereabouts on the island you want to land, so look around the island first. If there's nothing of interest on it try to land just before the cannon space so you can get off quickly. If on the other hand, something good is there, land after the cannon space so you can reach it.

General Playing Tips

Turn Order

Don't stress too much about the order of turns, you all get the same number of turns in the end, the only drawback is that in the first few turns, the other characters might be able to reach certain points first.

Stealing Coins

If stealing coins with Boo, it might not always make sense to steal from the character with the most. Look around and try to spot anyone coming up to Toad who is able to get a star who you can stop. Other characters with loads of coins but nowhere near near Toad will possibly lose them to Bowser or in a game anyway.

Using Map

Unless you're totally positive you know where you are going, at the beginning of your turn it's wise to take a butcher's hook at the map. Notice the location of Toad, the other characters, and any changes to the board (any paths blocked or open etc).

Direction

When you are given a choice of two directions to go, count out the number of spaces and work out where each choice would take you. It's no good going in the direction of a star if you land on a red space that leaves you with far less than twenty coins first.

Room

Mario's Rainbow Castle

YOU'RE all on one path for this board, but that doesn't make it any easier. Bowser and Toad are in the same place at the top of the castle. They swap round when someone reaches them, so always check who will be waiting for you when you get there. This board is made easier with items bought from the shop, especially the lower and higher number blocks. With them you can overtake the others if Toad is in the castle, or lag behind if it's Bowser.

Mini game island is definitely the best place to start before you take the plunge!

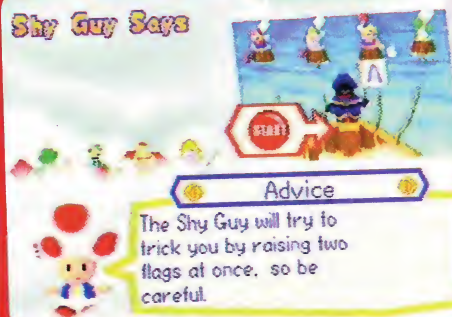

Mini Game island

Look at Mini-Game Island as a training ground. It will give you the chance to play the games and concentrate on your technique, without worrying about the board and other characters. It's definitely the best place to start before you take the plunge and play on of the boards.

Instructions

An obvious tip, but read the instructions! If it's the first time you've played a particular mini-game, read them and also remember to scroll left and right to read the further instructions. Also, while you are on that screen, if you test out the buttons you will be using, your character will demonstrate what will happen during the game.

Shy Guy Says

Advice

The Shy Guy will try to trick you by raising two flags at once, so be careful.

Mini Games

Now you're familiar with the boards and playing tips, you can look at the real point of Mario Party - the Mini Games. Altogether there are about fifty of these, all testing your different skills like reaction time, agility with the joypad, memory, and in a couple of places, especially the one-player games, it comes down to luck.

Each of the games will become easier every time you play, but if you want a few tips on one game which has you on the edge of a nervous breakdown, read on:

4 Player Games

Face Lift

HAVING to rearrange Bowser's features isn't the best job in the world, but this game is straightforward enough. The key is to watch the opening sequence of the game when the face is transformed. Usually it will only be a couple of things like the top lips and eyebrows. When the time starts do it in the same order and quickly pull the features into the rough shape. Look at the example face closely. How much of the eyes or mouth can you see compared to your effort? Go back and touch up the picture. If you work calmly you'll have enough time.

Crazy Cutters

THE danger of this game is that it's easy to oversteer and when you try to correct it, you oversteer the other way, so the end result is all over the place. Get yourself in a straight line and stick to it. When you need to turn, tap the control very gently and don't go mad with it. There's no need to rush the job - it's not a race and the time you're given is ample. It's accuracy that's the key here.

“Start pumping just before the start, but not too early or you'll waste loads of energy.”

Skateboard

MOVE fast here by pressing the 'B' as fast as humanly possible. But make sure you're not too busy to jump over the ramps and stones, crashing into any more than a couple is bad news. You might not realise you are doing it, but a lot of people will concentrate solely on their character for these games, but you should be looking mostly at the far right at the obstacles coming up, you'll then have more time to work out when to jump.

Hot Bob-omb

MORE of a game of chance rather than skill. You've got two options. One is to get rid of it sharpish every time it's thrown to you and hope you're not the unlucky one who gets it when it explodes. The other method is that when you get it, hold on to it and just before you think it's going to go off, throw it and pray it doesn't get back to you again. The second way means that at least you have some influence over where it could explode but you might need nerves of steel!

Musical Mushroom

THE music stops quite quickly, you won't even make it round the 'shroom once. Be alert and when it does stop, jump squarely onto the nearest smaller mushroom, twist round slightly and then do a big jump aiming to land smack bang in the middle of the mushroom with the treasure. Although you've got to move fast, jump accurately. If you don't jump on either mushroom first time, you've blown it.

Coin Clock Blitz

GAMES like this are brilliant because there's no danger of losing coins you can only gain. You don't need any fancy tactics for this, just get as much stuff as you can. Don't waste time travelling across to the other side of the playing area, jump on all the squares in your own corner and then go to the rest when there are only a few left.

Balloon Burst

THE idea behind this is simple, and the right technique will guarantee you a win. You'll soon find out that if you just pump the buttons as fast as you can, you won't win because your character will be doing short little pumps that are not efficient. You should be aiming for a fast, but not cramp-causing, steady pace. Another tip is to start pumping just before the start, that way you won't waste time building up a rhythm whilst the game is on.

Scamper

Box Mountain Mayhem

THERE'S the opportunity to pick up a fair few coins here. You can either jump on or punch the boxes, but jumping will waste more time than simply punching. Going from one side of the mountain to the other will also take up time. Try to avoid crowding with the other characters, it will make it hard to see what you are doing, and they may get there first. Go to the side that's quieter and smash all the boxes around.

CHEAT ZONE Mario Party

Platform Peril

IF you pause at all during this game you will have the platform fall apart underneath you. Try to be instinctive when timing your jumps rather than thinking about it too much. Stay in a straight line because going diagonally means you're on a longer route and you'll end up behind. It's not really worth making a detour for coins unless they're close by or you know you are already too far behind to catch up, in which case at least you will get something.

Mushroom

YOU need skill and quick reactions if you don't want to end up being fish-food here. You're not given much time between flags so you should always keep moving. Once you see the flag go up, do a running jump to the right mushroom being careful not to overshoot. Once you're there and waiting for the next flag, use this time to get in front of the others, it's frustrating trying to get past them while you are jumping and they can knock you off-target. If you don't make the jump first time, try again, sometimes you have enough time to get away with it.

Treasure Divers

DIVE as quickly as you can and always have a target in mind. Keep to treasure that's closest to you, going for things on the other side of the screen wastes time and there is always the chance that another character will sneak ahead. Never ignore the warning when you're becoming out of breath, if you don't make it to the surface you'll have to waste precious time recovering. The sea life is there to stop you- don't let it, they keep to the same route the whole game. Duck around or pause briefly if you have to.

Bumper Balls

DON'T bother getting involved with the battle to begin with, stay in the centre avoiding any charges or conflict. It won't take long before two of the characters will have fallen off. Then it's one-on-one with you and someone else. They will try to rush into you, so roll gently out of the way, keeping as central as you can. Watch for them to make a mistake and stray a bit close to the edge. This is your chance- so bomb it across from where you are, making sure you hit them full on and they'll be history.

Mario Bandstand

THIS game is a bit like Parappa but it's kept quite simple, you only have to press one button. A line of music is played with five or six notes in. When it's played again you press the 'A' button on each note. The scrolling bar is there to help you, press the button a fraction before it goes over a note. If you can't get the hang of it, try ignoring the notes on the screen and remembering the melody, each section is only short.

But occifer, hic, I've hardly touched a drop all evening! Let me off, aw go on, please! I'll be you're besht mate! Boilk!

Mix-up

Grab Bag

THE best way of dealing with this is to stick close to the edge most of the time. When you have your back to the edge, the other characters won't be able to get behind you. You'll notice that if you keep out of the scrum, the characters end up chasing each other round in circles. When they pass you, nip out from the sidelines, grab all you can, keeping an eye out for people sneaking behind you, and then retreat back to safety. Do this several times and you'll get a stack of coins, and hopefully won't have lost any yourself.

“Grab all you can keeping an eye out for people sneaking behind you”

Tipsy Tourney

RATHER than doing this one randomly, you're better off trying to do it in a pattern by running all the way round the edge first, and then running in a smaller circle to get rid of the middle bit. If you're able to control your character well enough, do it in a spiral starting from the outside and working your way in. You might still be left with one final square. If so, pause for a second and let your shell stop sliding next to you. Once it's come to a standstill, dash to the opposite end, across the stubborn square and the shell will follow you.

Bombs Away

IT'S hard to stay on your feet with the island tipping and bombs flying all over the place, but you can make life easier by attempting to stay as close to the centre of the island as you can. If a bomb looks like it's going to hit you, overcome the urge to do a massive leap out of the way. This will put you too near the edge and another bomb near you would blow you away. Stick to small jumps—you're better off being hit and being dazed for a while rather than falling off completely.

Cast Aways

THIS one's a matter of timing. You need to get used to how long it takes to cast the line so you can actually catch something. You get quite some time for this game, so use your first couple of goes to judge distances. You'll probably find that the best time is when the coin or treasure is between 1/2 and 1 centimetre from being parallel with you. Although it's going to be quicker to get the coins in the rows nearest to you, it's more difficult to cast a short distance. If you find this is the case, go for the treasure furthest away, it's worth more anyway.

Hammer Drop

THE hammers and coins are thrown down randomly. If you don't want to join in the mad scramble for the goodies move away from the others where there's less competition. It also means that there's more space to run from the hammers and go after the coins. The shadows you can see are a huge giveaway, run away from shadows which are hammer-shaped and position yourself on top of any that are round and bound to be coins. If any go near the edge, think twice about going for them, it's easy to fall off running after coins close to the edge.

Shy Guy Says

“Repent! The end of the guide is nigh! Tip-X loves you! Praise Tip-X”

Buried Treasure

YOU can make the other characters do the hard work for you. At the start, go diagonally towards the centre, fairly quickly. Don't tire yourself out by going through rocks. Once you are there, pause a little and look to see if you or anyone else has come across an arrow. In the centre of the screen you're in an ideal position to get to any point on the screen whereas you'll notice the others will carry on digging, often in the wrong direction. Once you can see two arrows it's easy to pinpoint the place where the treasure is. Now's the time to dig as fast as you can to try and reach it first.

Key-Pa-Way

ALL four of you are on the same side here, so remember to attack the enemy, not each other. If you haven't got the key, try to form a protective wall around whoever has, so you take the flak and they don't lose the key. If you are holding it, stay near the bottom of the screen, next to the edge of the playing area. You'll only have three sides to be attacked on. If you're threatened, don't be greedy, pass the key on, you will all get coins in the end but not if you don't get the key to the other end.

Hot Rope Jump

TIMING is everything here, so you can either trust your instincts and jump when the rope is about 1/2 centimetre from you, or take your cue from everyone else. When watching the others, you'll need to react ultra fast, when they jump, you hit the 'A' button and jump instantly as well. You get no second chances here, jump too soon and you'll land on the rope, too late and you won't even make it over.

Running of the bulb

LIKE 'Key-pa-Way' this is a team game, and you'll need to use the same tactics for it. Protect whoever has the bulb and run in and attack the ghosts first. If they get you, you'll be stunned and won't be able to do a thing. Once you get the bulb, run down the edge of the playing area, preferably the one near the bottom of the screen because then you'll be able to see yourself better. You need to duck past the ghosts with the others making a shield for you before the ghosts group together and you have to go back on yourself.

ONCE you've mastered this you will win it every time. You can't afford to waste time by looking at Shy Guy's flag first and then looking down at the controller for the right button, so remember which flag is which button and where it is on the joypad ('A' is the white flag, 'B' is the red one). Watch out though because he will try to fool you at least once by half putting up one flag, then changing his mind. You can afford a split second hesitation before you put your flag up, you may get away with being slow, but not with the wrong flag.

Slot Car Derby

THIS is the closest you're going to get to Mario Kart in this game. Whilst you don't have to worry about direction, you've still got a lot on your plate getting to the right speed. On the two longest straights, you can go full speed but you'll need to slow right down for the corners. If you don't want to spin off the track. Look out for smoking tyres, a sure sign that you're pushing your car too hard. ▶

CHEATZONE Mario Party

The minute you walked in the joint, do do, I could tell you were a real big spender... It'sh a long waaaay to Tipperary! It'sh a long way to go!

Tug o' War

THE idea of this is basic, just rotate the control as fast as you can. You might have to experiment with your technique, try using just your thumb or your thumb and your finger for the best speed. Another way is to rest the palm of your hand on the stick and rotate it that way for the fastest speed.

1 vs 3 Player Games

Pipe Maze

THE pattern of the pipes changes every time, so although you could try drawing a rough map the first few times, you might prefer just taking a bit of a gamble. The treasure chest will turn off at any junction it comes to. When the pipes scroll up, attempt to trace the route it might take from your character at the bottom. Knowing how many horizontal pipes there are will help. If there aren't that many, the treasure won't travel very far and drop it near to you. If there are a lot of them it will travel further.

Bowl Over

WHEN bowling the best results come from bowling it down the left hand side of the screen. If you let it go on the right, it will bash into the side and not even make it to the end. Pins should start hopping to the side right from the start. You can't move very far or quickly, so try and get yourself covered by having as many pins as possible in front of you to absorb the impact.

Bash 'n' Cash

IF you're in the Bowser suit you should do your best to run and avoid the hammers. Running around the edge will do the trick. If you are caught, try to catch the coins that come out of yourself and turn it to your advantage. When you have a hammer, don't run after Bowser all the time, play using tactics and trap him into a corner using the other players as a way to block him in.

Piranha's Pursuit

PRESS 'B' very quickly to skate, but also keep calm enough to do those jumps as well. Keep an eye on what's coming up on the right of the screen, as soon as you see a log, be prepared for it to fall and for you to jump it. This course seems to go on forever so stay alert until the end, but apart from the logs, there are no nasty surprises. This one's down to practice.

Coin Shower Flower

If on the flower, stick as close to the centre as you can get. The coins will then come to you, because the flower won't tip as much. Running round the edge runs the risk of you falling off and losing out. Notice the shadow of the coin appears before the coin actually does, so use this as a guide. When in a boat, as soon as the flower looks like it's going to tip get yourself straight underneath it. The coins will roll right into your hands.

Paddle Battle

THIS is another game where you need to rotate the control fast, if you drift too near the shore, the Shy Guys will spear you and steal your coins. You should be rotating the stick fully or you won't be paddling properly. Make sure you paddle extra hard when you near the rocks, ideally you want to be going right of them so there's no chance of you rebounding onto the left shore.

Tight Rope Treachery

THE best place for you if in a boat is on either side of the rope, but either in front or behind the walker. From this diagonal angle, the bombs will be more likely to hit. Don't go parallel to the walker if you can help it, your bombs will overshoot. When walking, you can't be distracted by what's going on below, even when you get bombed. Keep with a slow steady pace with no jerky movements and you're laughing.

Coin Block Bash

THE hammer is useful to have, particularly if opponents are hanging around beside a block you want to bash. Get rid of them first with a sideways sweep ('B' button), then go for the smash and grab. When you see a coin block, don't panic, follow the character who has and let them do the hard work. Keep out of the hammer's way and take the coins revealed.

CHEAT ZONE Mario Party

Crane Game

SOME arcade fun to be had here. If you're the grabber and not too confident, aim for the money, or better still, the treasure, at least it's not going to try and wriggle out of your grasp. You get half the coins of anyone you grab, so it makes sense to go for a character if they have loads to give away. You're not in a rush here, so take time to accurately pick out your target.

66 Aim for the treasure. At least it's not going to try and wriggle its way out of your grasp! 99

Hand

QUITE a lot to control in this game, you control your speed and right into the. Although you may game down to sp that if you go all the track at the Leaning into the vital, and you sho pacey but not ex speed if you want to the end and w

Desert Dash

ALL you need here is to build up a rhythm. You only have to go left, then right alternately when the symbol appears. Don't get cocky and go before the symbol comes up, you'll mess it up and be slowed down. Similarly, you can't hold the direction too long, a firm tap on the control left then right should be just right.

1 Player Games

Memory Match

A bit like that old card game "Pairs", this game doesn't make you try to remember too many symbols at once. It mostly relies on luck, the only way you can increase the pairs you get is to think quickly. If you're not sure where the other half is, don't think about it too long, jump on another square to find it.

Knock Block Tower

THE only thing to avoid in this game is punching the grey blocks. If you do this then you will instantly fail, so do a couple of practice jumps and punches away from the blocks first, then actually go for the blocks themselves. You don't need to jump up for the treasure, punch it once and it will come down to you.

Deep Sea Divers

DIVERS should go for the easy pickings first. Take the treasure closest to them and if one of the chests is bigger, grab it quickly. Then go for the deeper treasure and stuff which is further away. When you are in the boat, obviously reel in as soon as you see your partner has something, but also constantly look at which bit of treasure to go for next. Position the boat whilst reeling in to make it easier for the diver to reach.

Bobsled Run

A good start is essential so be ready to press the 'A' button as soon as you begin. Once you are away, go as fast as you can. The course doesn't have any really sharp corners. Watch where the other team are on their screen and if they try to overtake, block them off. Look out when you come out of the tunnels, when the walls are missing on one side, stay roughly central.

Limbo Dance

THIS game looks very simple, but can be a real pain. You need to jump very steadily so you jump just before and just after the poles rather than when you are under them. Watch out if you start to look unsteady, you need to stop straight away or else you will fall over with a bump!

Slot Machine

YOU have to hit the blocks to get three identical symbols, so this one needs a bit of luck. If you think you've got fast reactions, try watching the blocks in turn and the order that the pictures appear and hitting them when you predict the right one will come up.

CHEAT ZONE

Pedal Power

THIS takes pure speed. Practice your ideal way of rotating the control stick and begin just before the start of the game, so you're at maximum speed when it counts. Also make sure you're taking the control stick all the way round or else you're wasting a lot of your energy.

Ghost Guess

ANOTHER guessing game where you have to discover which ghost is the leader that all the others are copying. You need to use the shadows for this, it's easier to spot the right one doing this just because the shadows are bigger and movement shows up better.

Teetering Towers

WATCH what happens in the opening sequence, so you know what's going to happen. The towers tip really quickly and just jumping isn't good enough, it's definitely time for huge running leaps. Look where the treasure is and get to the right side of the towers to get it. You get a brief time before the tower tips, so use it to position yourself properly.

Whack-A-Plant

WHEN you jump on the plants, don't just jump up and down on the same square, then move to another. Instead, bounce off from one plant head to another to save time. This works best towards the end of the game when loads of them come up at once. It is possible to do a whole row before they disappear.

Ground Pound

YOU are given a decent amount of time to look at the stakes before the butterflies settle on them, so do your best to spot where the sharp ones are. If this is too much to take in, just look at one half of the board, when the time starts, do the one side you know and guess the rest, you'll still do pretty well.

Shell Game

DO not get panicky about this game, even though it looks like it's going to be impossible to keep track of the right shell. Get your eyes totally focused on that one shell and if you do think you've lost it at one point don't give up, go for a guess and carry on watching it. You might find it easier to put your finger on the screen and trace the shell moving around.

WCW Nitro

Frankly spanking!

1

Hollywood Hogan is about to get another beating, the poor sod!

2

Scott Steiner raises his arm to begin the awesomely hard Frankensteiner

3

Then he brings it down on Hogan's back in a stunningly swift smash

The onslaught continues as blows rain on the big guy's back

► when your own character is eclipsed by the guy's bear-sized back. Does the camera swoop around to help you out? Well, that'd be too much trouble wouldn't it!? More often than not you'll be swan necking around the TV, desperately trying to figure out which way you should be facing, and where any primed punches will land. When there are more than two opponents in the ring, the camera will zoom out to display the full majesty of the maul.

Swan Break

WCW Nitro makes your attempts to kick the living crap out of these built up ballet dancers an on-going nightmare, especially if you happen to be at the far side of the ring. The most arse-worthy aspect though is undoubtedly the sluggish nature of the gameplay. You can chop, punch, kick, and use your action button to reduce a foe's fighting spirit. But the delay in the action after a button press leaves you vulnerable to blocks and energy sapping special moves time and time again.

Combinations of the striking moves, and the directional buttons will set you up for suplexes, backbreakers, gravestones and the like, but due to the signature moves, the same combination of button presses will produce different results with each wrestler, and it soon descends into a bit of a lottery. The ease with which the N64 controlled greased-up monkeys execute their wrath just served to wind me up even further. It's fair enough if they grab your back, spin you around and stamp on your bleeding head. But when the guy dishing out the pounding takes a whole two seconds to jump in the air and wrap his legs around your face, and you can't do anything about it – no matter how many fists are thrown, it's more repellent than Vanessa Phelps' chest hair. Take my advice and leave this empty explosion well alone, it sure won't bang, and you'll just get those fingers burnt ●

Be careful when going to the top turn buckle for spectacular flying elbow and knee drops. Unless your opponent is well and truly sparked out he'll most certainly move out of the way and the only thing you'll hit is your own head against the ring apron

Uh-oh! Someone's about to find out how a turtle feels with its head stuffed inside its chest

5

He falls to the apron in an unhealthy heap. Hit Hollywood – see the stars!

6

The final shot is a clean hit from Steiner's right boot. Oooh, I felt that!

Hey, can any one help? We've got a problem with a jammed ring bell here!

Lex Luger gets an eyeful of Kevin Nash squeezing dick near the helmet!

WCW undoubtedly has the nucleus of a winning title, but the surrounding parts of this built up body have been cobbled together with the same care German women show when shaving their arm pits. It offers none of the explosive impact the name suggests as the gameplay is slower than Alan Shearer in an England shirt. Keep your pennies in your pocket and keep suplexing kid brothers onto mum and dad's bed instead. JAMES Breakdown...

- GRAPHICS The men look okay, but everything else is blander than school mashed potato 6/10
- SOUND Cheesy shout outs accompanying special signature moves don't delight my dangles 4/10
- GAMEPLAY A respectful variety, but it's all really hit and hope due to terrible response times 6/10
- LASTABILITY Useful as a coaster for hot mugs, but it won't last long in many machines 5/10

Why not try...

Accclaim got the formula very nearly spot on in WWF Warzone. It looks better and plays far superior, plus you can make your own wrestle jesters yourself.

Other Views...

- STEVE Probably the worst wrestling game we've seen. There are many better choices you could make than this!
- MARK Badly animated wrestlers wobble around the ring sluggishly slapping each other. A truly awful game!
- NOELY James and I wrestled to decide who'd review this. I won by two falls and a submission. He reviewed it. Nuff said!

Herbie goes ballistic in this brilliant racing game

REVIEW

British Release

By Mark
markh@dig.co.uk

Think of a VW Beetle! Now banish all thoughts of Hippies and Herbie and think of the fastest racing game on the N64

Beetle Adventure Racing

Box bashing is the aim of the game. Trash as much stuff as possible to win

The graphics are truly stunning with all the tracks full of detail

BEETLE ADVENTURE Racing (BAR) has literally dropped out of nowhere! Usually a game this good is talked about for months (even years) before it comes out. Not so with BAR, which has had a quieter release than a fart in the middle of a church prayer. But it's about to cause just as much fuss!

A bug's life

The graphics are outstanding, every racetrack is absolutely crammed with detail from the superbly realised villages in the lush jungle to the fully animated dragon that blasts you with fire in the haunted woods.

The tracks in BAR have incredible attention to detail and you'll often struggle to regain control as you're distracted by the brilliant objects hurtling past you. One track even has a Jurassic Park section complete with a fully animated T-Rex that tries to snap your Beetle in half.

Bug Race

Slowly

1 The most middle of the road racer you'll ever see. A good all rounder, but things get better

Grippy

2 Sticks to the road like glue, but its superb handling is at the expense of speed. It's a snail!

Stripey

3 With go-faster stripes and wide wheels this car is much more of a boy racer than the others

Adventure

Jumpin' Jack Frost

1 Smash off the side of the track into the ski village...

2 ...and you'll end up going down the ski jump!

3 It's a massive leap to the other side...

4 ...where you'll fly down a bobsleigh run.

One of the first things you realise is that the tracks are big (we're talking bloated cow-size here). Even moving at a full-pelt when you've learnt all the tricks and short-cuts you'll be lucky to get around a single lap in under three minutes. A three lap race takes the best part of 15 minutes.

You won't be getting bored in a hurry though! The tracks are brilliantly laid out with more short-cuts and multiple-routes than a mind-boggling maze. One minute you'll be happily racing along when you spot a hole in the wall or a conveniently placed jump. Hammer to the side of the track and you'll find yourself flying through completely new areas. There are so many short-cuts it's like you're racing around a fully realised world instead of a track.

Baby, drive my car
I must have been through the city 50 times before James had a go and found a completely new route that involved smashing through a glass doorway into a subway station and racing a train down the line. You'll still be finding new routes and quicker ways of getting around the courses after weeks of gaming.

Not only does it look better than Britney Spears in the buff, but it

It looks better than Britney Spears in the buff moves smoother than a snake on a slippery slide. There's no slowdown or choppy graphics anywhere in this game.

Beetlebum

Even when all the other cars are on the screen and things are moving in the background it still keeps with the pace (which gets pretty fast as you get better Beetles). You just can't go wrong with graphics this good.

One slight niggle is that BAR has great big whacking borders (big black stripes) on the edges of the screen. With so many graphics moving at once you can see why this was

Tip-Xtra

Throughout the tracks are boxes with N on the side. Smash them for a nitro, but don't get too greedy. They don't return for the next lap so pace yourself. Try to save at least a couple of nitros for the last lap and you'll win!

Eighty

4 It may have an 8 on the side, but you won't end up in eighth place if you pick this stunner

Quickie

5 It looks cool as ice and moves faster than a thunderbolt. Keep it on the track and you'll win

Trippy

6 Our very own Tip-X is hiding in a secret car. It's faster than any other and even changes colour!

Beetle Adventure Racing

Stormin' Shortcuts

Every track in Beetle Adventure Racing is stuffed to the brim with secret routes. It was hard to choose, but these are my four favourites

Rail Racing - In Metro Madness you'll find yourself racing a train down the track

Smashing Pumpkins - Head up a jump in the wicked woods and you'll see this weird area

Left: Check out the dinosaur! This animated beast tries to snap your car up

Use the control stick to steer your Beetle around the treacherous tracks

Press the C-down button to do a handbrake turn. Or C-up to change views

Press Z and A to reverse

Press the B button to slam on the brakes

Press the A button to hammer down the track necessary and personally it doesn't bother me! But a portable TV could end up looking like a Game Boy Color and if you found yourself getting annoyed at Waverace or F1 WGP for having a small screen, you'll need to be prepared for an even tinier one in Beetle Adventure Racing.

Dung Beetle

The other thing that slightly (and only ever so slightly) ruins BAR is the license. The all new VW Beetle is all well and good (pretty cool car in fact), but it would be nice to race something else from time to time. It's a constraint of the VW license and despite there being plenty of different Beetles in a several different designs, it's still only the one car!

Having got those moans out of the way I'll tell you what else is great about BAR. The handling of the cars is fantastic with none of this unrealistic Cruis'n-USA rubbish! There's a gorgeous balance between realistic handling and fantastic gameplay, where it doesn't let simulation get in the way of a good game, but still makes you feel behind the wheel of a real car.

Mini beater

The Beetles also have four-point independent suspension (Okay... I know this sounds bland, but stay with me). Each tyre reacts to the road independently so the car feels like it's reacting to every notch and bump that the course throws at you. It's a small detail but the effect is fantastic and much more satisfying than any other arcade racer on the N64.

Second-hand deal

Lastability is a major factor in any game and BAR makes sure you keep coming back for more. As well as several difficulty levels (opening up new cars and tracks) you get cheats and bonuses scattered throughout the racetracks. Numbered boxes are littered around the courses that give you points if you smash them.

There's 100 points on each track and if you collect them all you'll get special bonuses. It's harder than you think and you'll need to learn the huge tracks inside out to smash every box.

There's a well thought out multi player mode included too, so you and your mates can have a crack at the game together. Two players can have a straightforward race, which manages to keep the graphics good and the pace high, whilst four players can choose battle mode, where you have to collect all the different coloured VW Beetle symbols and make it to the exit. Get shot (you can pick up weapons) and you'll drop one of the symbols. So everybody starts to gang up on the player who's winning making it a top laugh.

Even with the couple of niggles over screen size and the lack of different cars, you can't fault a game this good. The graphics are a treat to behold, it's faster than a fox in a Ferrari and it plays like an absolute dream. Now I just hope that the total lack of hype doesn't stop this from going where it belongs: straight in at number one

“It plays like an absolute dream”

Tip-Xtra

Here's a secret! On the first track are two haystacks. Drive through the one on the left and you'll hit a 'cheat box'. This opens up the cheat menu and gives you a 'No Radar' cheat!

Left: The wicked woods are full of spooky trees and haunted houses

Enter the Dragon – Normally you just see his butt. Race around and he'll blast you with fire

Ship ahoy – One false turn and you'll have to contend with a cannon attack

A Bug's life...

These bugs don't hide in the ground. They ton it around six huge tracks full of shortcuts

Coventry Cove

Start by the sea before heading for the hills. You can even race down a mine

Mount Mayhem

Things get slippery as you go mountain climbing. Get to grips with the game

Inferno Isle

Run through the jungle and drive-past the dinosaur to get first place

Sunset Sands

Drive through the desert, but keep an eye out for the Egyptian tomb

Metro Madness

Take a trip through casinos, hotels, car parks and the occasional road!

Wicked Woods

Go down to the woods in this game and you'll get a big fire-breathing surprise!

It's Got...

SOFTWARE HOUSE LEADS

BEETLE Adventure Racing Is an absolute treat of a game. The graphics are sweeter than Lisa Steps, the tracks are bigger than a beached whale and it's more fun than finding a fairground ride full of five pound notes. Six massive tracks are stuffed with detail and there's enough replayability to keep you occupied for months. This is truly great. MARK

Breakdown...

GRAPHICS: Top notch visuals throughout the game. Shame about the borders though 9/10

SOUND: The music can be a bit repetitive, but the sound effects are good 8/10

GAMEPLAY: Storming fun as you bomb around the madcap levels 9/10

LASTABILITY: The huge tracks and tons of shortcuts will keep you going for ages 9/10

Why not try...

Rush 2's a similar sort of racer with plenty of jumps and shortcuts, but it's nowhere near as much fun as Beetle Adventure Racing

Other Views...

LEWIS I could quite happily settle down to A Bug's Life with this one. Only a can of Rald could stop you having fun here

STEVE Best N64 race game so far? You bet it is! Floor that accelerator and prepare for the ride of your life!

NOELY Huge tracks, and fantastic handling make this a fun racer that even Herbie would go bananas over

Pirates

Level 2

THIS level is set amongst the pirates' treehouses. Follow the ledge round, and roll onto wooden lift when it's lined up with the ledge. At the top roll off the lift, and (avoiding the enemies) make your way to the bottom right hand corner of the platform, where you will find another lift. If the lobster is on the ledge after the lift, leave the ball on the lift, and fist-slam the lobster twice to kill him before you continue.

After the lift, carefully manoeuvre the ball around the sloping walkways, taking special care as you go round the tree trunk as there are some very narrow awkward parts there. At the junction, either take the easy right path, or if you are attempting to collect all the garibs, head to the left. The plank underneath the group of garibs will fall away, so they must all be collected in one swift movement over the plank. Hit the checkpoint.

The next section involves negotiating a series of pirates' cutlasses. The easiest way to do this is rotate the camera so that you are always looking directly at the tree trunk as you go up the walkway. By doing this, you can see clearly when the cutlass blades are at their high point, and can then roll the ball quickly underneath.

Dodge Chester, and head round to the right, quickly rolling the ball across the walkways before the planks fall away beneath you. Carefully follow the sloping platforms round, and taking care with the slope, bounce the ball to hit the checkpoint. Continue round, letting the ball and Glover drop gently down the stairs.

Then release the ball and fist-slam the Dibber on the conveyor. Take the ball down the conveyor, taking care at the end to pull back on the analogue stick to stop moving!

For the tricky three moving platforms, carefully roll the ball onto the next platform just as it goes below the platform that you are on. Change the ball into the ball bearing, and activate the ball-switch at the bottom of the water pool to activate a moving ramp below the pool. Exit the pool

PIRATES LEVEL 2

Spots make me look thinner you say? In that case I'll take it! Have you got it in elephant size?

Handy Guide Part 2

using the ramp, and turn the ball back into the rubber ball. Dodge Chester, and head down to the right, carefully letting the ball and Glover roll down the slope while nudging the analogue stick in the opposite direction to let Glover gently roll onto the moving platform at the bottom.

Once on the moving platform, stay in the centre to avoid the two Dibbers, and do not bounce unless you really need to go for the garibs! If you bounce too much and without moving Glover in the same direction that the platform is moving, you will soon find that you are attempting to bounce on thin air!

Head down to the right on the moving platform, where it stops next to a small walkway leading to a square platform. Bounce over the gap between the walkway and the square platform, and activate the ball-switch to open the exit door. Head back onto the moving platform, this time getting off on the left side, and rolling the ball carefully into the exit teleport in the tree-trunk.

Secrets

- BEHIND the hut on the platform after the first lift is a hidden extra life.
- Another extra life is hidden behind the hut after the cutlass blades, on the platform where Chester is. Another hidden extra life can be found behind the hut next to the water pool.
- To short-cut the conveyor belt and the tricky three platforms you can drop from the checkpoint above, straight into the pool of water below!

Level 3

THE final pirates level is set in the pirates' town, perched on the edge of high cliffs. Head to the right, and throw the ball over the spinning barrel, jumping over afterwards. To clear the second barrel bounce the ball, and then throw it while in mid air. Then jump over as before. Bounce, and then slap the ball in mid air onto the roof of the next house, from the stone platform. Go up the slope and throw the ball over onto the next house to hit the checkpoint.

Turn the corner and drop down onto the ledge by the house. Lob the ball up onto the wall next to it. To jump onto the wall, double jump up to the wall, and Glover will cling onto the edge, then press the analogue stick in the direction Glover is facing to climb up on top of the wall. Bounce and roll the ball up the slope, and rotate the camera so that you are looking at the cliff face beneath the slope. You will see a cave entrance below. Carefully drop down onto the narrow ledge, and enter the cave entrance to teleport you up to the house above.

Roll down the slope, and bounce over the plank-bridge. Leave the ball at the signpost and run past the cannonballs. Hit the fist-switch to flip the platform that they are on. Then return to collect the ball. Head back in the direction of the fist switch, rolling the ball up the slope to the checkpoint. Ignore the houses directly in front, and follow the cliff edge around to the right.

You will find another lift that will take you down the cliff face. Go down the lift, and carefully follow the path round to the sandy ledge at the bottom. Dodge Chester, and throw the ball onto the small stone block on the left. Then fist slam the ball, and jump onto the netting above.

Grab the Hercules spell by jumping higher, and then drop down to the sand below. Use your strength to push the crates to the right. Behind the crates is a ball-target. Activate this to rise some steps between the houses further up the cliff. Bounce back up onto the lift, and head left to the first set of houses with a ramp next to them. Roll the ball up the ramp, throwing it onto the roof, and bouncing it over the houses and over the stairs. Roll quickly over the planks before they fall away, and hit the checkpoint.

Bounce the ball onto the rotating barrel when the top is flat, and carefully control the ball over to the sand on the other side. Leave the ball and double-jump against the large wooden plank on the right to knock it over. Get the ball, and take it over the plank to the ball-switch. Head back across the plank and you will see a stone lift rising and falling by the rotating barrel. Roll onto this, to get to the cliff above.

At the top, head to the right, rolling and bouncing the ball over the roofs of the houses. Fist-slam the three Dibbers on the stairs before you bounce the ball up them. Carefully drop down onto the sandy ledge on the corner, and continue round the path. Cross the planks, and enter the exit teleport.

Secrets

- A couple of houses past the spinning barrels there is a lift that takes you down to a hidden cave entrance. In the cave you will find Chester guarding a Sticky-Fingers power up. Use this to walk on the ceiling to collect some garibs and an extra life.
- Just above the lift is a platform that holds an extra life. Fist slam the ball and jump in mid air onto the platform.
- On the corner, the house has a cracked wall. Turn the ball into the bowling ball, and slap it at the cracks, and it will smash the wall revealing an extra life.

- By the signpost near the cannonballs drop down onto the platform on the right. Slide down the slope and hit the fist-switch. Head towards the netting to pick up some garibs (hold down jump to jump higher on the netting). Then head to the left and enter the cave entrance to teleport you back up to the house above.

- At the bottom of the second lift, you will see an extra life behind some bars. Turn the ball into the bowling ball, and slap it at the bars to smash them open.

- Above the ledge where the Hercules spell can be found, it is possible to jump up onto the netting to collect extra garibs.

- Just before the end of the level, you will find a green rock arch. Fist slam the ball next to this, and jump on top to get an extra life!

BOSS

Pirates

THE pirates boss level is on a small desert island where Cross-Stitch has conjured up two baby monkeys, and where a large monkey guards a treasure chest. First, you must avoid the baby monkeys. They will attempt to play with the ball. If they do get it, fist slam them to make them drop the ball and fall to the ground.

Then, you must position yourself in front of the big monkey, and bounce and throw the ball at his chest. If successful, he will fall to the ground, where you can fist-slam his big belly. Occasionally, the big monkey will drop down from his branch and try to knock you over. You will have to avoid him, and the baby monkeys while this happens.

A good strategy is to stun the baby monkeys, knock the big monkey from the tree, and then fist-slam him. If you do this three times, the chest will open, revealing the exit platform.

Carnival

Level 1

THE first Carnival level is set in a wacky fairground, complete with various games to play. From the start, rotate the camera so that you are looking at the orange ramp next to you. Head to the left of the ramp, towards a red & white striped tower, where you will find the ball.

Head back round to where you started, and head towards the conveyor belt, where you will find a ball target. Hit this to reverse the direction of the conveyor, so you can get up it. If during this, Bugle sucks up the ball, head towards the spikes near the bottom of the conveyor belt, and bugle will burst when he touches them!

Make your way up to the top of the tent, and leave the ball on the area there. Stand in front of the poles blocking your way, and press [z] to cartwheel through them. Alternatively, you can fist-slam the ball and jump over them. Fist-slam the switch, and collect the ball, rolling it over the rollers after the switch.

CARNIVAL LEVEL 1

Beware of Chuck, the performing chicken. If he gets the chance, he will try to balance on the ball. To get the ball back, fist-slam him. However get too close, and he will throw an egg at you.

Head to the left, hit the checkpoint and release the ball on the yellow platform. Double-jump up pushing against the standing platform to topple it over.

Collect the ball and use the platform to cross the spikes, following the walkway upwards until you reach a trampoline. Stand in front of the middle tent section, and bounce the ball, throwing it when in mid air onto the top of the section. Double-jump up after it, and hit the checkpoint.

Go to the end of the jaggy slope, and activate the ball switch, then head back to the trampoline. Roll down onto the trampoline and bounce and throw the ball onto the section on the right (the one with the closed door), then jump up onto the opposite section where the door is now open.

Hit the fist-switch, and then jump up to where you threw the ball, and roll it through the door. Head up the rollers, and hit the fist-switch by the tents. Turn the ball into the bowling ball, and release it on top of the ramp so it rolls down and collects the garibs. Slide down after it.

Collect the ball and turn it into the rubber ball. Stand to the left of the moving platform next to the red & white wall, and lob (tap [a]) the ball onto the platform when it stops moving. Jump up onto the platform when it stops again. At the top, lob the ball up to the top of the tent, and double-jump up after it.

Avoid chuck, and roll the ball onto the yellow lift just inside the now open doors. Follow the rollers and ramps up around the huge ice-cream cone, hitting the checkpoint on the way, until you reach a switch at the top. Release the ball on the switch, and stand at the end of the platform. A cable car will arrive. Walk into the cable car, and get off at the other end.

This is the Slam-a-Dibber game. Quickly fist-slam all of the Dibbers that appear from the holes. If you manage to kill all of them, a switch will appear in the corner. This switch will move a ramp half of the way up to the exit rocket, later on in the level. Head back over the cable car, collect the ball, and descend the ramps around the ice-cream cone.

Bounce carefully down the purple staircase, and you will find a pachinko game. Turn the ball into the ball bearing and release it under the magnet. Then fist-slam the switch marked with a square to activate it.

When the magnet reaches the top of the ramp, walk on the left & right buttons to move it. Then jump & fist-slam the square marked switch again, to release the ball. Hit the ball through every lane to get extra garibs, and hit the lane marked with arrows to get an extra life and activate a switch on the left of the game area. Fist-slam this switch to raise the exit ramp a little more.

Head left and you will find Dennis, a bouncing space hopper. Just in front of Dennis, you will find a long row of Garibs, and a 'Test of Strength' game. Head towards the right, passing the space rocket and you will find a fruit machine. Hit the ticks to hold the reels, and hit the GO button to set them rolling.

When you have won something, hit the switch on the left, to raise the exit platform and open the top of the rocket. Enter the rocket to exit the level.

Secrets

- ON the left of the small tent next to the poles at the beginning of the level you will see a yellow ramp leading off to the left.

After you've lowered the poles, head left onto the ramp and carefully walk to the top. You'll find an extra life in an alcove at the top of the tower. If you take the ball up the ramp, you can fist-slam it in front of the alcove, and jump onto the top of the tower to get another extra life!

- Speed cheat - when playing the level on time trial, ignore the section to the left of where you meet chuck, and head off to the right. Where the back wall ends, you can slap the ball onto the glass case of the pachinko machine, and double jump onto it!

- Release the ball, and jump onto Dennis to ride him. On Dennis you can jump much higher, so he can be used to collect extra garibs.

- Collect the following at the fruit machine:

- frog spell - you can turn Dennis into a frog, and then ride him!

- ???s - generate an enemy - Bovva!

- Garibs - a ring of garibs

- Crown - generates a Hercules power-up. Collect this and then play the 'Test of Strength' game to get an extra life, and collect the row of Garibs with the ball quickly to gain lots more points!

- High up on the 'Test of Strength' game are a number of Garibs.

Turn the ball into a ball bearing, and bounce it on top of the hammer before you slam the switch. The ball will then collect the Garibs!

Level 2

HEAD round to the left, onto the chequered platform. This platform tilts from side to side, so watch out if you attempt to get the garibs. Release the ball on the other side, and fist-slam the switch to call the monorail carts. Throw the ball into the rear cart, and then jump into the front. When the carts stop moving, jump out, and retrieve the ball, throwing it onto the grass. Hit the checkpoint and head left onto the rotating flower.

Cross the flower and wait at the edge of one of the petals. When lined up, slap the ball onto the rolling platform, and double jump on after it. Carefully roll the ball over to the platform on the other side, timing your exit from the rolling platform so you don't fall off! Hit the checkpoint and climb the ramp.

To get past the teeth, turn the ball into the bowling ball, and collect the boomerang ball power-up. Smash some teeth, and roll the ball through. Keeping the ball as a bowling ball, whack it from the chequered platform into the pool of water below. Jump down after it and you will be teleported as you hit the bottom.

Roll the ball to the left, avoiding the Dibbers, and cross onto the chequered platform. Three of these platforms will slowly tilt, allowing you to descend, collecting the garibs on the way. At the bottom, head left onto the blue rotating section, and follow it round until you reach an entrance. Bounce onto one of the platforms of the ferris-wheel, and at the top bounce so you get sucked up into the glass tube. At the end of the tube, push the stick left so you land on the grassy area.

Hit the checkpoint, dodge Chuck and activate the ball switch. This will turn off the fan that you may have seen below. Head onto the red platform and drop down in a similar way to the tilting platforms that you've seen before. Exit the central sandy area and work your way round the outside of the rotating section until you reach the fan. Go round to the right, and hit the checkpoint.

Head onto the platform in front of you. Warning! It tips down to the right hand side, so drop down into the water. Bugle will steal the ball off you, so collect the Rotor Blades power-up at the bottom of the water, and fly directly to the left. To use the Rotor Blades, hold down [A] to rise, and then push in the direction you want to go to glide.

Drop onto the grassy platform and avoid Bovva who will fire his explosive stings at you! Get the frog spell, and turn Bovva into a frog. You can then turn bugle into a frog when he is above the platform, and the ball will be released so you can collect it. Fist slam the frogs and make your way down the slide. The exit teleporter is at the bottom.

Secrets

- AN extra life floats above the hut on the left of where Glover starts this level.

- A garib is hidden behind the hut at the start too.

- On the rotating flower get the extra life by slapping the ball carefully over the hole in the middle onto the petal on the other side, or by double jumping and timing your second jump just before you touch the extra life.

- By bouncing the ball and destroying all of the teeth in this level, you will reveal some hidden garibs, and an extra life!

Level 3

IMMEDIATELY leave the ball and use Dennis to jump over the gate in front of you. Fist-slam the switch, and return to collect the ball. Take the ball through the gate, and head left up the slopes until you come to a checkpoint. To get onto the boat, slap the ball onto the deck as the gap goes past, and then jump on afterwards.

To get from boat to boat, throw the ball over, and then double jump onto the next one. Finally slap the ball onto the final platform, jumping on after and heading left. To collect all the garibs, roll the bowling ball down one side of the ramp, and slide down the other.

Turn the ball into the ball bearing and roll it out of the water. Then turn it back to the rubber ball and hit the checkpoint. Carefully roll around the tilting platform, until you reach the funnel at the end. Release the ball, and jump to get the bonuses in there. Then drop down.

Pick up the frog spell, and cast it at Bovva who is hanging around nearby. Then collect the ball and carefully roll it up the sticky slopes, hitting the ball switch as you go. Enter the teleporter at the end, and you will be transported back to the start area, now with the hands open.

Go to the right through the two hands, hit the checkpoint and go around the rotating carousel, bouncing your way up the crooked stairs. Roll the ball through the spinning tubes, dodging the holes in the middle. Then roll off the end, and continue down the walkway, rolling the ball around the holes in the floor. Enter the tent at the end, and roll the ball into the exit teleporter.

Secrets

- BEHIND where you start on the level is a secret platform. Use Dennis to jump over to the platform, and gain three extra lives and some garibs! Fist-slam him to stun him, so you have time to collect all the bonuses!

- On top of the tent on the left of the gate at the beginning of the level are a number of Garibs and an extra life. You can collect these by using Dennis.

- At the end of the crooked stairs you will see a small shadow. Place the ball here and fist-slam it and then jump up and you will collect a sticky fingers potion. This will allow you to collect two extra lives that are at the top of the spinning tubes.

- To get the final extra life, throw the ball into the tent door at the end.

BOSS

The Carnival boss is a mad clown, who will spin the floor of the tent he is in, as well as throwing custard pies at you! First, head around the edge of the tent and throw the ball at the first ball-target you see. This should drop a bomb on the clown. Go round to the other side of the tent, and hit the other ball-target that is there. The clown will take another hit!

Now, a big clown's nose above one of the doors of the tent will begin to flash. Hit this with the ball (you'll have to bounce and throw the ball) to deliver the final blow! Bounce the ball onto the exit platform and you've done it.

Walkthrough

Prehistoric

Level 1

GLOVER starts the Prehistoric world in a frozen fair of ice. Immediately head to the right and kill the Dibber. Head to the left, where you will see a rock ledge covered in snow.

Double jump onto the lower step, and then jump onto the top of the ledge. Here you will find the ball, frozen in an ice-cube. Fist-slam the ice-cube to free the ball, and then drop down to collect the garibs below.

You'll soon notice that rolling the ball around picks up snow very rapidly! Either bounce the ball, or slap it against some rock to knock the snow off. To get out of the cave, turn the ball into the bowling ball, and slap it at the icicles that make up the door of the cave. Roll down the slope towards the ice lake, and bounce the ball over the platforms dodging Bovva until you get to the other side.

Stand to the right of the lower ledge on the slope, and throw the ball onto it. Wait for a snowball to smash onto the ledge, before jumping onto it. Wait at the far side of the ledge, bouncing the snow off the ball if needs be, and again wait for a snowball to smash. When one has, bounce the ball to the end of the platform, and bounce and throw the ball onto the higher ledge. Then jump up to it and collect the ball.

Throw the ball up onto the area of snow, and jump after it, avoiding the flames from the dragonflies that swoop down. Head round to the right, and down a slippery ice bridge being careful not to allow the ball to pick up too much speed. Don't go near the edges of this ice bridge as it will topple over. Hit the checkpoint by bouncing the ball and collect the garibs. Turn round and bounce and throw the ball over the ice bridge, double-jumping behind it to clear the ice bridge.

Collect the ball, and head straight ahead towards the slopes near the signpost. Dodge the dragonflies, and when a snowball goes past, proceed up the slope. It is wise to knock the snow off the ball before you do this! To climb the snowball run, wait on the inside edge of each corner. As you see a snowball coming past, cut the corner slightly and head up the slope as it cascades down! When at the top, hit the checkpoint. You will see an ice bridge fading into the mist in the distance. Wait until two snowballs have dropped down (one on each side) and then roll the ball down the slope onto the bridge. Continue round the bends of the bridge, using the banked corners to help you round. As soon as you reach the other side, be prepared for an enemy. A little T-Rex will come running towards you! Just as he is about to get you, move to one side. He will dive onto the ice, and slide off the edge of the bridge!

If the T-Rex is sulking in the corner, first fist-slam him to stun him. Collect the garibs, and use the bowling ball to smash through the ice sheet on the right. Continue down the ravine smashing the ice sheets until you find the exit door.

Secrets

- SMASH all of the icicles at the beginning of the level and gain an extra life.
- Fist slam the ice in the lake to smash it and collect the garibs below!
- At the top of the first slope, head directly ahead, and you will come to a cave entrance blocked by a sheet of ice. Bounce the snow off the ball, and turn it into the bowling ball. Slap the ball at the ice sheet, and it will shatter, revealing an extra life, and hidden Garibs.
- Just to the left of the first ice sheet at the end of the level, you will notice a cliff of snow that is slightly cracked. Use the bowling ball to crumble this, and you will discover a secret room with hidden Garibs and an extra life. Knock the snow off the ball, and place it in the centre of the room. Then fist-slam and jump on the ball to collect another extra life that is floating in mid-air! ●

Miserable? You'd be miserable if you had a snooker referee's hand jammed up your arse all day too!

Thanks go out to Jedi Master: Timothy Lan from Mansfield for sending in these tips on finding all the bonuses

DEFECTION AT CORRELIA

After saving Crix Madine from the Tie Bombers and Interceptors you will have to make your way back to the Capitol Tower. On your way you will come across a few cities. You will find the bonus in the middle of the first city.

THE JADE MOON

When you fly through the trench to destroy the Shield Generator take the left fork and blow up the building at the end.

IMPERIAL CONSTRUCTION YARDS

After taking out the Radar Dishes ignore the AT-AT on the right and head to the base with the shuttle. There are two storage containers in the small base. Blow them both up and the one on the left contains the bonus.

PRISONS OF KESSEL

On the second part of the mission you have to rescue the prisoners. The bonus is close to the second prison. After taking out the Tie Fighters and AT-STs fly close to the surrounding cliffs and watch your radar. You should see two red dots near the top of the cliff. The dot on the left is a small bunker containing the bonus.

BATTLE ABOVE TALORAAN

The bonus is well hidden on this level. Play through until you see the floating city. The bonus is in the middle of the city. Try to fly just a few feet over the right half of the city. If you fly down into the centre of the city (without

Fountain Knowledge

Zelda: The Ocarina of Time

Have More than Four Bottles

Dave Tozer sent in this great Zelda tip. Just make sure you follow these instructions to get an extra bottle.

There are a few drawbacks to this tip! You can only use the bottle as an Adult and any fairies kept in it will not revive you if you die, but overall it is well worth doing.

First of all you must get the Biggeron sword:

- 1- As adult link go to the Cucco woman in Kakariko village and get the Pocket Cucco from her.
- 2- Take the Pocket Cucco to the house in the village where Talon is sleeping and use it to wake him up.
- 3- Take the Pocket Cucco back to the Cucco woman. She will give you the Blue Cucco.
- 4- Enter the lost woods from Kokiri forest and turn left. Here you should see the depressed skull kid who hates all people. Give him the Blue Cucco.

5- In return he will give you a mushroom which you must take to the potion woman in Kakariko within 3 minutes (don't bother trying to teleport - you gotta run).

6- Take the odd potion from the old hag and head back to the skull kid. He'll have gone so give it to the girl instead.

7- Take the saw and head to the carpenter in Guredo fortress.

8- He gives you a broken sword. Take it to Biggeron at the peak of Death Mountain.

9- Take Biggeron's prescription to King Zora (defrost him with blue fire).

10- He gives you an eyeball frog. Run with it to the scientist in the Lakeside lab.

11- Give Biggeron the eyedrops within four minutes.

12- Take the claim check and hang around for a few days (Hylian time!)

13- Get the sword!

Hurrah! You're now ready to get your fifth bottle. The claim check you got for the sword is still in your possession and it's of no use anymore. To transform this into a bottle follow these easy steps...

- 1- Find something you can catch in a bottle (e.g. bug, fairy, fish).
- 2- Set an empty bottle to a C-button (let's say C-down).
- 3- Swipe with the empty bottle and pause the game mid-swipe. The timing is important and it will only work if you pause with Link's arm fully extended.
- 4- Go to the select screen and set the Claim Check to C-down.

5- Unpause the game. If you've timed it right Link will finish his swipe and catch the item in the bottle. The Claim Check will disappear and be replaced with a fifth bottle.

WARNING!

This cheat will work with any item and once you've done it YOU CANNOT GET THE ITEM BACK! So unless you really want more than five bottles I recommend that you only do this with the claim check.

This cheat is also useful to get back at somebody who is annoying you. Just swap their Ocarina for a bottle (this is Dave's suggestion not mine. Good God no! - Tip-X).

Don't get held up in Hyrule! Just check out all these tips for Zelda

Gossip Stone Tom-foolery

- 1- Hit a gossip stone with the megaton hammer to flatten it out.
- 2- Place a bomb next to the stone to launch it into space.
- 3- Hit a gossip stone with a magic arrow to send it crazy.

Six Ways to get a Free Fairy

- 1- Stand by a gossip stone and play Zelda's lullaby.
- 2- If Navi turns green for no reason play the song of storms.
- 3- Go to the spirit Temple and stand by the dried up oasis. Stand on the stone temple and play the song of storms for six fairies.

- 4- Play the song of storms as a child next to a magic bean sprout
- 5- This ain't easy! Touch a butterfly with a deku stick
- 6- Head over to the N64 Pro office and take Noely. Please!

Use Weapons Whilst Riding Epona

You need to be at the end of the game to do this. Fight Ganondorf until he becomes Ganon and knocks the sword out of your hand. Now save the game and reset your machine.

Go to Hyrule field and call Epona. Now, when riding her you'll be able to use weapons. However, some of them produce some pretty weird results. You can get the master sword back at any time by time travelling.

Rupees for Nothing (and your chick's for free)

Go to Kakariko village as an adult and go to the little alcove behind the potion shop. Place a bomb between the ladder and the hag's house to open up a hole. Go down and catch a fish. Now sell it to the beggar next to the bazaar for 100 Rupees!

Britain's Top Gamers

We've had lots of entries this month, including an avalanche of 1080° Snowboarding times. It seems 'rad' boarders are staying in and tackling the much warmer and considerably less dangerous slopes of 1080° this winter. So keep them (and all your best times) coming 'dudes' and next month you could win a Pro Crew membership and the admiration of gamers everywhere - Noely

Wanted

The top five begged for N64 games

1 Silicon Valley

A surprising entry for this great game

2 Turok 2

Dinosaur is back on the menu

3 Super Mario 64

If you haven't got this yet then you're daft!

4 Zelda

How could anybody ever part a copy?

5 Banjo Kazooie

The clumsy bear and noisy bird are back on the wanted list

Not Wanted

The most unwelcome games of all

1 Sega Saturn and 17 games

Only one! But definitely the least wanted

2 Mission Impossible

Still the second-best spy game on the N64

3 Super Mario 64

So many sold that Mazza's bound to appear

4 Space Station: Silicon Valley

Just too surreal for some people

5 V-Rally '99

Just out and already up for grabs. Good stuff if you can get it going cheap

Real letters from

Yet more Noely bashing poured through our letterbox this month, keep it coming folks, it really brightens our day! And there's a corker of a Star Letter too, along with questions and answers, moaning minnies going on with themselves and loads of general praise stuff. Good old 'You Reckon?', you've just gotta love it!

66I have felt like chopping her head off and using it as a football!99

Girl Power

I think you should sack Noely! I really hate her! She doesn't really care that some readers like Banjo-Kazooie. Ever since I read one of the Issues when she said what she said I have felt like chopping her head off and using it as a football, then taking her eyes out with a lollipop, still with the ice lolly on! Right, now this is not a compliment, I think you should have some tattoos, a key ring, stickers or something. Instead of free books and guides all the time!
Emma O'Kelly

He's the man, the man with the Midas touch! Oh, hang on, wrong song...

Did you know Konami are working on a new, non ISS footy game? Well, they are! And it's going to be a completely new game and everything. And it's going to be smart!

N64PRO

Er, yeah, 'she's' a right pain is that Noely! We've often felt like doing that to 'her' ourselves! As far as the free books go, our hands are tied. You crazy readers seem to love 'em, and who are we to go against what you want? As you'll have noticed from this Issue's freebies though we are mixing it up a bit, and as soon as we're providing something that keeps everyone happy we'll have cracked it and can all retire to our yachts in Miami Beach!

Left: There are no joypads like official joypads, there are no joypads we know! Everything about them is appealing... etc.

You Love Us

I know I might be stating the obvious but your mag is light years ahead of everything else! Your mag has many more features than any other, you have a really cool Swap Shop, great competitions, truthful reviews, Noely (NOT!) and every game that comes out! When you reply to letters you don't slag the readers off like they do in the other, rubbishy magazines, and now you're letting us have our own views on games! Cool!

LETTER of the MONTH

THE PRO CREW

Rumble in the Jungle

I AM currently in the unfortunate position of being an N64 widow. During the long, tedious hours watching my other half play/worship GoldenEye I noticed your competition for new ideas for games. I think the only way forward to attract more female players is... Rumble Knickers!

They would be a variation on the Rumble vest (only made from something a little more comfy!). I won't draw a diagram - I'll leave that to your imaginations!! The game concept would involve shooting/maiming buxom blondes in bikinis in order to save the likes of Brad Pitt from their evil clutches.

Once the 'bad blondes' are out of the way, Brad/Keanu/Matt/George would need to be seduced. This would be a variation on fighting games with all the special moves, i.e. right arrow, left arrow, A, up arrow = big tonguey snog! When you get the right combination synchronised (girl getting all excited - Steve) ensues, especially with the Rumble Knickers! Lorna Coombe, Croydon

N64 PRO: What can we say to that? Top idea Lorna, and handy for us lads too! Just think, while we're playing Vigilante 8 we can also be performing any necessary duties without even lifting a finger! Bob's your uncle, and everyone's a winner! We've sent Noely off down the Patents office to register the idea (and get him out of our way for a few hours!), we'll all be millionaires in no time! But don't worry, we'll forward your ten per cent cut on to you later! Maybe

... your competition for new ideas for games. I think the only way forward to attract more female players is... RUMBLE KNICKERS

Funny how girls always have nicer handwriting than lads wouldn't you say? You should see the state of some letters we get in here! Disgraceful!

“Expect my membership form for the totally ace N64 Pro Crew soon!”

Your new look totally kicks ass and the tips books you give out are ace. Oh yeah, expect my membership form for the totally ace N64 Pro Crew soon! I could go on forever, but I won't because you might get bored. The second point I would like to make is that of the lastability of good games for Instance. Play it, brilliant game then complete it, well now it's like £50 worth of game sitting on the shelf not being played at all! Then there's GoldenEye. A game that when you complete it you can try and go for cheats and multiplayer with all your mates!

Great, class, ace, awesome mag! Keep on going!

Daniel Shayler, Swindon

Starter for ten

Hey, I have a few questions to ask!

1: Could you give me any information on how N64 cartridges work, cos it would be fun to build a replica or just find out how they're built?

2: Is a Logic 3 Trident pad better or worse than a standard N64 pad?

3: How do you manage to cram so

Left: Noely - about as popular as piles are to cyclists

N64 PRO: Hey, I have a few answers to say!

- 1: No it wouldn't
- 2: Again, no. The official pads rule. Nothing even comes close!
- 3: Magic
- 4: Mark's 25, Jim's 28, Lewis is 28, I'm 24, Noely's 29, Dan's 25, James is 22, Tip-X is 247, Scoop's 2 and a half and Paul's older than the hills!

Sick As a Parrot

Hi, I finally got around to writing in. I'd like to say I'm sick of people complaining about the new look mag, it's top! The recent reviews of Zelda, Turok 2, South Park and Star Wars to name but a few were great. They told me everything I wanted to know and

YOU RECKON?

“I started buying your magazine three months ago and I am hooked! You are the best magazine!”

► more, and you've got the best reviewing system of all the mags!

Secondly, when is a developer going to bring out a football manager game (e.g. Premier Manager)? The PC's got loads, the GreyStation has a few and the Nintendo's got none. We've got the best footy sim ever in ISS '98 (which I own), so why can't we have the best football manager ever?
Paul, Bolton

N64PRO: Thanks for the kind words, they're much appreciated. You're one of many that's gagging for a footy management game, and while I can't say too much at the moment, I can tell you that you might not have to hang on for too much later. There might, just might be an announcement any time now about an N64 version, but if I say any more I'll be in big trouble!

Supply and Demand

I love your magazine and I reckon I am your number one fan! I trust your decisions 100% and believe everything you say when I buy (or rent) a game! I have to complain about one thing though - WHY DO YOU GIVE AWAY SO MANY DAMN CHEAT GUIDES AND BOOKS? It's very stupid and extremely frustrating!

I started buying your magazine three months ago and I am hooked! You are the best magazine, because the official ones are crap because they are just paid to say everything is excellent! At least you speak your mind! Your reviews are top, your database excellent and your CheatZone 100% (usually). The perfect qualities for the perfect magazine!

Our new look seems to be going down well! Bloody well should do too, it rocks big time! We rule! Yay!

This is the first time I have ever written to any magazine, so please print it! If you do I'll adore you forever!
Stephen Gage, London

N64PRO: Thing about guides is majority of you lot can't get enough of 'em! Remember that reader survey we did in Issue 17? Well, when we got the results back 88% of people who responded were either happy with the amount we were doing or wanted more! Only 12% thought we did too many! And you just can't argue with figures like that! And only 3% thought free tips and guide books were anything less than 'brilliant'! So it looks like you're stuck with them I'm afraid. Glad to hear we're your number one choice though! Ever since we redesigned we seem to be getting a lot of people saying that...

Banjo-Kazooie

What WE said

 Rare have lovingly created an absolutely humongous world that's jam-packed with rich and varied textures, along with a huge number of toe-tappingly cheery tunes to accompany you along your way! STEVE

What YOU said

 Banjo Kazooie is one of the best games ever. The characters and levels are great. It's up there competing with Zelda and Mario as the best game on the N64 Kevin Bibey, Kent

 Cool, excellent, exciting, hot, challenging, fabulous, smashing, colourful, classy, enthralling, supreme fun, immense quality, premium, super brilliant... (okay, we get the message!) Peter Walker, Jersey (Age 11)

 I think the game Banjo Kazooie is great because it has loads of playability and it takes ages to complete. Controls are easy to use and I give it 92% Ben King (Age 12)

 Banjo Kazooie is great at the very first time, but when you have completed it, it starts to get crap! But I think it's great. (Hmm, very decisive Michael) Michael Mann (Age 13)

F1 World Gra

What WE said

 Buy F1 WGP If you have any interest in driving games and simply enjoy exciting, hugely challenging, and amazingly, realistically handling race games, because that's what this is. You MUST buy it if you're an F1 nut who's after THE definitive F1 racing sim, because again, that's what this is. But most of all buy it to prove to all those PlayStation owners just who really does have the best console on the planet. PlayStation. Pahl NOELY

What YOU said

 This game is so great. It drives well, and has loads of tracks. It's so smooth you will think you're watching ITV on Sunday. This game will go far Dean Bradley (Age 15)

GoldenEye 007

What WE said

 A brilliant Vodka Martini mix of top class Doom-style action, with a superb, film inspired storyline and some brilliant splashes of invention from the Rare team make GoldenEye a truly wonderful cocktail NOELY

What YOU said

 In the beginning, when you get a gun, you can walk up to someone and shoot them in the privates. It's funny watching them crouch and die in pain Nicky Bettsworth (Age 11)

 GoldenEye is the best, it's much better than the rest. I love it when the bad guys cry, when you shoot them in the eye. GoldenEye Kicks ass, so there Ross Thomas, Cowdenbeath (Age 13)

NEWS

and Prix

“Definitely worth its price. F1 Accelerates away from all its rivals. It's well worth the 94% score you awarded it. F1 has two words for the opposition. Eat Dust!”
Craig Thompson, Lincs (Age 14)

“All the tracks and drivers. A superb 64 racer that leaves GreyStation engines in the pits. At last you can barge Schumacher off the track in this amazing racing simulation”
Steven Birtwell, Essex (Age 14)

“F1 WGP is an amazing game. Loads better than F1 Pole Position. The graphics are cool and it doesn't slow down in two player mode. Nice stuff from Nintendo. (Love the picture Alan)”
Alan Selby, Nunthorpe (Age 9)

“I love GoldenEye on multi player because I love crouching down, then going up to someone behind their back, then getting up and shooting them in the head”
Andrew Payne, Worthing (Age 13)

“Realistic, brilliant graphics, good sound effects. All my mates love it and so do I. It's so good, I reckon they should make Tomorrow Never Dies. I give it 100%”
Sam Jones, Warwickshire (Age 11)

Star Wars: Rogue Squadron

What we said: “Rogue Squadron is the stuff of most lads' dreams (and I don't mean that mucky one where you get to cover Caprice in chocolate and lick it off). It's a stunning (both graphically and sonically), action-packed, challenging (though not too brain taxing) shoot'em-up. And if all that isn't enough to convince you - it's Star Wars for Christ's sake!”
NOELY

What YOU said

“Rogue Squadron is a classic. Superb graphics, terrific gameplay, John Williams's unforgettable score, Empire kicking sound effects and more battles than Yoda can shake a stick at. Roll on Episode 1”
Ben Goodwin, York (Age 14)

“An amazing game. Great graphics, cool sound. The game is pure genius, except that it's only one player. Apart from that, a must buy. I've got it and I'm addicted”
Martin Gibbons, Reading (Age 13)

“Rogue Squadron is Brilliant with a capital B. Graphics, brilliant. Gameplay, brilliant.

Machines, brilliant. Once you're on it, you are in a different world. No wonder, it's ace in space. Brilliant! (Cheers for that Kasim, though you've clearly been watching the Fast Show too much)”

Kasim Rajput, Oldham (Age 12)

“...you can walk up to someone and shoot them in the privates”

ISS 64

What we said: “In buying ISS 64 you can be secure, (smug even) in the knowledge that you currently own the finest football game there is. It looks, sounds and more importantly plays like an absolute dream. Compared with the competition it's a whole new ball game. None even come close to being as impressive looking, as realistic, or as playable as this game is”
NOELY

What YOU said:

“This game is cool. Cool graphics, gorgeous gameplay. Buzzin' tactics, which are extremely clever. Cosmic commentary. The only let downs are the player names and options. Buy it now, it's adorable”
Trevor Walker, Morecambe (Age 15)

“Brilliant because it has great graphics, gameplay, commentary and sound. The best option is 'edit player' where you can change the names to the real ones and rip off FIFA”
Aelred O'Doherty, Peterborough (Age 16)

“Konami really have produced the goods this time. The graphics are fantastic and the scenario mode is top. ISS 64 guarantees months of happy gaming. You enjoy football? Just buy it”
Ben Windle, Manchester (Age 9)

READER'S REVIEWS

South Park 64

What WE said

"I can't remember a game ever making me laugh out loud more than once or twice, but South Park has me in stitches every single time I play it. Okay, it's not innovative, but the multi player game is the best around, and more than makes up for the one player game being a bit samey. A must have for fans and a good laugh for all!" STEVE

What YOU said

"The game called SouthPark 64 with any other game wipes the floor. It's really, really cool will make your friends drool cos they'll always be wanting to play more!" D Troit, London

"SouthPark was made by Acclaim which I thought was a very good name. Kenny is dead, give us his head and just give me the bleedin' game!" Craig Wilcox, Manchester (Age 13)

"This game is definitely a close encounter of the N64 kind. It's overflowing with hilarious comments and gameplay. Definitely a winner. Yeah I want SouthPark 64!" Ben Tamblina

Turok

What WE said

"Turok 2 grabs you by the throat and refuses to let go. The graphics are fantastic, the animation's amazing and the sound's so good you'll cack your keks. The game's monstrously huge and each level is crammed full of places to go and dinos to destroy. To top it all, Turok 2's drenched in enough of the red stuff to start a blood bank. What more could you ask for. Just buy it!" MARK

What YOU said:

"Turok 2 is brill. Loads of blood, cool graphics and sounds. Excellent multi player, much better than GoldenEye. Different characters and some really awesome weapons. Turok 2 is the best game in the world!" Joe Tingley, Horsham

"The most enjoyable, frustrating, bloodthirsty, violent, funny game I've played. So far it's worth buying just

WWF Warzone

What WE said

"Not only is this the best looking and sounding wrestling game on the N64, it also plays the best. If there was a fight between Warzone and WCW vs NWO, after much posturing and yelled threats, the outcome would ultimately be a clear knockout victory for the Acclaim title!" NOELY

What YOU said

"It's the best wrestler on the N64. All the people look like they do in real life. It's joint best game I have along with Zelda and Silicon Valley. 98%" Andrew Massicks, Cumbria (Age 11)

"Warzone is a gripping game. All your favourite WWF characters to choose from. Loads of cheats to get.

You'll still be playing it even after you've completed it. Ace!" Simon Porter (Age 12)

"WWF Warzone is a great wrestling style beat 'em-up with great graphics and a cool speed. It's got an ace multi player mode so you can give your mates a good kicking!" Dan Roper (Age 14)

"It's a great game because of the excellent multi player facility. I personally think it's great on Royal Rumble as are the different features you can use to create your player!" Tom Young (14)

"Dinosaur! Blam, blam, blam.

Nheahaha. Come get some. This will be you after playing Turok 2!"

Score - **%

There's nothing we like more than playing with our little handheld toys (Noely rarely does anything else!), and seeing as how absolutely loads of you have great fun with yours too we thought it was about time we devoted a section of N64 Pro to our favourite finger based pastime. But they wouldn't let us, so we had to do some stuff on Game Boy Color instead!

WHAT'S THE SCORE

TOP STUFF!

If you see this happy little fella at the end of a review then you'll know that we absolutely love it. If you had any doubts about whether to buy the game or not then this chucks 'em right out the window!

NOT BOTHERED!

Hmm. We're not too sure we like a game that gets this unsure character. Read the review properly, maybe it only appeals to certain gamers, or maybe we've just seen it all too many times before! Think long and hard before investing in one of these!

WELL ROPEY!

No! No! No! Bobbins. Not good enough. Poor. Dirt. Rubbish. Atrocious. Bollo... Well, you get the picture! See this unhappy chappy at the arse end of a review and you'll know to leave your cash in the much friendlier home of your wallet/back pocket!

PREVIEW

Conker's Pocket Tales

AFTER a flashy performance in Diddy Kong Racing, Conker is ready to flaunt his puke-inducingly fluffy tail in a starring role on Game Boy Color. Based on Rare's upcoming 3D adventure Twelve Tales: Conker 64, Pocket Tales is an overhead-perspective action/RPG title with gameplay that reminds us of Link's Awakening (a bit).

Never ones to rush into releasing duff stuff, Rare was inspired by the release of Game Boy

Color and decided to extend its production time to produce the colourful screen shots you see here. Conker's Pocket Tales remains dual compatible with any Game Boy unit, but Game Boy Color is the only way to visit

Conker's cartoony world. To rescue Berri and recover Conker's stolen birthday presents, you'll have to guide the squirrel through sprawling levels filled with a variety of subgames and hidden secrets. According to Rare, this diminutive Pak holds a whopping 20 hours of gameplay! Don't worry though, three battery-backed save slots will ensure that you don't have to play all 20 hours at once! We'll be reviewing this little beauty next issue!

REVIEW

Warioland II

WARIO, or Wazzer to his mates (of which there are few, him being a nasty fella!) is a bit of a magpie. He just loves the shiny stuff, and his horde of gold is the envy of all the creatures, good and bad, that inhabit MarioWorld. So obviously Wario spends a lot of time and effort protecting his gleaming nest egg and keeping it locked far away from any grabbing hands. But disaster! The dreaded Black Sugar gang have nipped past his security devices and pinched his pots of cash! Oh no! Poor Wario! But help is at hand, in the form of you and your shiny new Game Boy Color! Work your way through Warioland II's masses of cunningly constructed levels and help reunite the possessed podgy plumber with his dosh!

Out Now £19.99
Published by: Nintendo

Verdict... Great stuff! Easily a match for any 2D platformer on the N64 and the perfect way to turn a tedious trip into a joyous journey! Be warned though, this is just the same as the original Game Boy classic with some swanky new colours chucked over the top to make it more pleasing on the eye! A true gaming classic though!

The Smurf's Nightmare

Out Now £19.99
Published by: Infogrames

Now here's a novelty. One of the few Game Boy games that isn't backwards compatible! Exclusively Game Boy Color, Smurf's Nightmare is as good a reason as you could ever need to invest in an upgrade to your favourite handheld pastime! It's, unsurprisingly, a platformer, and equally obvious is that it features those half-naked blue bast... er, blighters, the Smurfs! And of course their arch enemy Gargamel, scourge of all the Smurf's. Boo! Hiss! Etc. He's worked a magic spell, and put almost all your friends to sleep, trapping them in their own nightmares! Scary stuff. You play Hefty Smurf and must work your way across 16 Smurfy stages waking your mates up from the nasty dreams they're currently having!

Verdict... Game & Watch Gallery 2

Out Now £19.99
Published by: Nintendo

IF YOU added up the ages of the five games in this second Gallery you could say that this cart is a hundred years old! Each one came out first around twenty years ago! And it shows! The five games appear exactly as they were back then and in a bonus modern day rendition featuring your favourite Nintendo characters. A quick roll call, although their names will probably mean little or nothing to you (with one notable exception), tells you that Parachute, Helmet, Chef, Vermin and everyone's favourite Donkey Kong are the games. All good stuff, but it's difficult to see anyone under the age of 30 really getting excited by this little lot...

Verdict... Most of you are probably too young to remember the Game & Watch craze of 'olde London town', but this little cart is steeped in Nintendo history. But without the dewy eyed longing for yesteryear that the programmer's obviously feel towards it, this turns out to be a massive let down. Primitive, simplistic and, well, boring to be honest...

THE classic returns, not just in full glorious colour but with a whole brand new dungeon to adventure in! Link has been stranded on the mysterious island of Koholint, far, far away from Hyrule and must investigate ancient mysteries and explore dark and dangerous dungeons if he's to ever even hope to get home (does he ever do anything else?! Anyone who's played The Ocarina of Time on the N64 will feel a strange sense of déjà vu at times, but don't panic, you need to remember that the GameBoy was the inspiration for much of what went on in 'the best game of all time'!

Verdict... Everyone should own this game, and there should be no discussion about it! You'll be playing it for years and there's always something new to do or a new location to lose yourself in! Make sure you've got a good supply of batteries (or a power supply), cos you'll go through them like Man City through the Burnley 'defence'!

Bugs Bunny & Lola Bunny

Out Now £19.99
Published by: Infogrames

BUGS and Lola get a nasty surprise when they return home one night. Their carrot patch, once packed to bursting with crunchy orangey goodness is now completely bare! Who would do such a thing? But wait! Footprints! And they look like Daffy Duck, Elmer Fudd, Yosemite Sam, Marvin the Martian and the Tasmanian Devil's tracks to me! Could this be a clue?

You'll have to explore five Looney Tunes universes to find out, collecting super carrots and using your ears to fly and reach difficult locations along the way. At any time you can switch between Bugs and Lola, and both have different special abilities, so if you can't suss out how to get by a certain obstacle with one you can always give the other a go. Are you up to the challenge?

Verdict... Another cracking platformer, although not quite in the same league as Warioland II. The chance to switch between Bugs and Lola adds an extra dimension though, and some of the puzzles will have you scratching your head for ages! Plus you get to meet all your favourite characters too! What are you waiting for? Get playing!

The original first-person shoot 'em-up hits the N64 in style. All Doom's trademark guns and monsters are now portrayed using the N64's lush graphical capabilities and it looks better than ever. Many people think this is the best shoot 'em-up ever made, but it's well past its prime and the basic gameplay is too simple when compared to the other N64 shooters.

The absolute classic puzzle game makes its appearance on the N64. Take control of two cute dinosaurs as they aim and throw coloured bubbles up the screen in an attempt to get three of the same colours touching so they burst. Simple enough with dated looks, but it's still one of the best puzzle games ever made and fantastic with two players.

Manic Mayhem & Full On Fun...

8 can play that game.

- Round up your mates and go totally wild in mini-sized cars.
- Drive like mad all over the house... rip across the breakfast table, devastate the dining room, smash up the chemistry lab, tear up the snooker room...
- Grab your weapons, find the force fields, and fireballs and send your opponents crashing to oblivion...
- The all out, no holds barred, fun fuelled racing game where up to eight can play on one, full screen.
